"Enough is told! Here am I—ye have heard
What evidence I seek, and vainly seek."

The son of John J. Raskob, master magician of the motor world, loses his student son as the boy's car overturns and crushes him to death. It is as though the eagle—
"Viewed his own feather on the fatal dart,
And wing'd the shaft that quivered in his heart."

A Detroit athlete who maintained a good average in all, but took no championship in any single event, wins the decathlon at Philadelphia. As Don Marquis once observed, the average American is far above the average.

New York will tear up a carload of telephone directories today in honor of Miss Earhart. The name somehow has a familiar sound—what did she do, win the ladies' singles at Nice?

Chairman Work revises his view of a couple of problems—his own and the farmers'.

Tammany Hall moves from its historic wigwag preparatory to taking up permanent quarters at 1800 Pennsylvania avenue.

The Governor of Michigan reopens the case of a rich man's son sent to prison for an attack on a young woman, but what's being done for the boy out in that State who is now serving a life sentence for carrying half a pint of gin?

"Beauty sat bathing by a spring
Where fairest shades did hide her;
The wind blew calm, the birds did sing,
The cool streams ran beside her."

Well, here's the naked truth for once, anyhow—a couple of fair damsels frolic in Rock Creek Park in what Tribby modestly referred to as the "altogether," and the fairest shades do not hide them from an eagle-eyed cop. As the poet says—
"No beauty she doth miss
When all her robes are on;
But beauty's self she is
When all her robes are gone."

The "best minds" of the Republican party will assemble here tomorrow for a little accelerated celebration, but why aren't the ladies included in the brain trust? We had gathered from the new marching song, "Onward, Christian Soldiers," that the G. O. P. was now a Bull Moose party, not a stag party.

The spirit of patriotism that Mussolini has breathed into regenerated Italy conquers the vast reaches of land and sea that lie between Rome and the new promised land of Italian immigration. Farrar and Del Prete safely reach their goal, but the large significance of this lies in the fact that the Latin tide has been diverted by our exclusion law from North to South America.

The richest man in Europe drops out of sight as completely as though he were the obscurest of paupers, and the financial world has a more absorbing mystery than one may find in a $3 best seller. Truth is stranger than fiction. Did Loewenstein fall into the channel; was he a suicide; was he aboard the plane when it left England?

The National Conference on Street and Highway Safety undertakes a Nation-wide plan for safeguarding pedestrians. It is thought that they will be concentrated in game preserves, like the balance of our fast-disappearing wild life.

Joe Robinson has gone into seclusion for four days to practice wearing a brown derby.

After mature deliberation—well, no, we would hardly say that—Tom Heffern turns over Mr. Peter J. Maloney's check for $250 to the Fellowship Forum. Whatever other deficiencies may characterize him he can never be accused of lacking a sense of humor.

The fact that Secretary Hoover is going to visit the Brule front first-page news to everybody, including Mr. Coolidge, too.

The new uniform of the Army's flying cadets will differentiate them from enlisted men, but how can we keep from confusing them with Fox Theater ushers?

The Goshute Indians are beating their tom-toms in Utah and some of the Tammany braves are threatening to go off the reservation.

America yields the world's long-distance nonstop flight record to Italy. Well, that gives us another mark to shoot at.

Beating the tom-tom gets nobody anywhere, but are those Goshute Indians armed?

France lugs the war debts into the treaty discussion and is quite willing to have world peace at America's expense. Thanks!

WORK, BACK IN CITY, CLARIFIES HIS VIEW ON FARM PROBLEM

Balanced Adjustment of All Products Favored by Chairman.

CONFERS TOMORROW WITH EASTERN G. O. P.

National Committeewomen Not Invited, Yet Not Slighted, Statement Says.

Back from his visit to the summer White House, Chairman Hubert Work, of the Republican National committee, yesterday sought to clear up a "misimpression" regarding his position on the delicate question of farm relief.

Chairman Work had luncheon with Secretary Herbert Hoover, the Republican Presidential nominee, and later issued a statement denying that he had said in Chicago that there was no farm problem. The statement follows: "Through condensation and omission, my recent remarks upon the farm issue seem to have given a misimpression."

Views of the Chairman.
"I did not say there was no farm problem. The gist of what I said was that the Republican platform recognizes the farm problem as a national problem, and proposes a specific plan of relief, which will, I believe, commend itself to the farmers. And I expressed satisfaction for a better outlook for farm prices than last year, and that there should be a balanced adjustment between the products of the farm and of the shops."

The industrial East, however, rather than the agricultural West, will occupy the time and the thoughts of Secretary Hoover, Chairman Work and other leaders for the next two days.

The conference of Republican leaders from the Eastern States, Chairman Work announced yesterday, will be held in the Willard Hotel tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. National committeewomen from all the States on the Atlantic seaboard from Maryland to Maine will be present. Secretary Hoover will be there, and also Senator George H. Moses, of New Hampshire, who has been asked to manage the drive for votes in the East.

Women Not Included.
The national committeewomen of the East have not been invited to the conference tomorrow. Chairman Work, however, stated yesterday that there had been no intention of slighting the women.

The purpose of the conference is to devise ways and means of winning, or holding the East. Later on there probably will be similar conferences of leaders from the West and the South, but no definite plans for such conferences have yet been made.

Secretary Hoover had originally planned to leave here about Tuesday, but it is now apparent that he will not leave until late in the week. The reason for the delay is Mr. Hoover's desire

DOZEN ARE MISSING AFTER CLOUDBURST

Landslides Add to Damage in the McKeesport, Pa., Vicinity.

McKeesport, Pa., July 5 (A.P.).—Several missing Fourth of July pleasure seekers, reported caught in floods and landslides that followed a cloudburst in this vicinity late yesterday and last night, were sought today in the floodwaters of two small creeks 5 miles east of here. Twelve persons were reported missing, and it was believed they had been swept into the streams.

One man was known to be dead and scores of persons who were picking up or motoring had narrow escapes at several parks and along highways in the Monongahela River Valley. Peter Petrovski, 45, was drowned at Duquesne when he was trapped in his home by water that rose in a small stream.

Approximately 2,000 Independence Day celebrants at Rainbow Gardens, a pleasure resort near here, were driven from the park in a lowland section and were marooned for hours on hillsides.

Many automobiles were destroyed at Parks, near here. Some of the machines were swept away by water that flooded parking grounds. At one place a landslide swept down upon a parking place and buried the automobiles.

Chinese Say Japan Is Ousting Officials

New York, July 5 (A.P.).—Frank W. Lee, representative of the Chinese Nationalist government in the United States, received the following message from Shanghai under date of July 4: "Japanese troops have driven out the Chinese magistrate at Chichuan and are threatening to expel the magistrate at Poshan, Tsingchow and other places along the Shantung Railway unless they depart within two days. The continued Japanese military occupation of Shantung is growing worse and local conditions are drifting from bad to worse."

RADIO BEAM TELEPHONE SYSTEM FOR U. S. CITIES

Marconi Device Will Be Used in New Service, Is Word in Wall Street.

EQUIPMENT IS ORDERED

New York, July 5 (A.P.).—Wall Street today was estimating the time, trouble and expense to be saved through the use of a beam-operated wireless telephone and telegraph service, which, according to reports, will be inaugurated next winter.

Although officials of the Radio Corporation of America, which is believed to be working with the American Telephone & Telegraph Co., on the project characterized as "fantastic" reported plans to link the principal cities of the United States by such a beam communications system, it was learned in other quarters that the Radio Corporation has placed orders for necessary equipment.

The system, which will permit operation of 1,000 circuits on one wave length, is said to be an invention of Senator Marconi, with whom David Sarnoff, vice president of the Radio Corporation, and W. A. Winterbottom, traffic manager, spent some time in conference abroad recently.

It is believed that through arrangements made at that time the two American corporations will have sole rights to use apparatus now being perfected by Marconi and that the inventor will come to this country next winter to aid in starting service.

Sending and receiving sets are said to approximate in size an ordinary telephone switchboard, while the service is understood to be cheaper, more efficient and less subject to interruption than the present.

Long distance beam service already is in operation between continents, but if plans mature the United States probably will be the first country in the world to have such communication between its cities.

Ford to Build Road in Hungary, Is Report

Budapest, Hungary, July 5 (A.P.).—Henry Ford has agreed to construct a macadamized road 125 miles long from Budapest to Szegedin, says today's Financial Journal. The condition is that the Hungarian government allow his automobiles importation into Hungary duty free so that they can be sold here at $400 each. The newspaper says that Ford has a similar arrangement with Bulgaria.

Nine Convicts Slain in Attempting Escape

Bucharest, Roumania, July 5 (A.P.).—Nine out of ten life convicts were killed and the tenth was wounded and recaptured today after they had tried to escape by digging a hole in the wall of the government prison here. The wounded man was found in an adjacent forest.

Indians Beating Tom-Toms To Have Agent Removed

Salt Lake City, July 5 (A.P.).—The steady beat of tom-toms in the hills back of his home nightly reminds B. E. Brigrance, Indian agent on the Deep Creek reservation, near Bpash, Utah, that the Goshute Indians oppose his administration of reservation affairs and that they are waging a campaign to have him removed.

This was the report brought here today by two Federal prohibition officers and a Salt Lake newspaper man who went to the reservation to conduct an unofficial investigation of reported trouble between the Goshutes and white residents.

The investigators heard charges from the Indians that Brigrance had made improper advances toward three young Indian girls, had purchased an automobile with Government funds and had been negligent in dealing with an

CUTS IN CITY BUDGET SOUGHT BY COUNCIL AND BOARD OF TRADE

$39,000,000 for 1930 Urged by Advisory Members.

$41,288,000 FIGURE OF BUSINESS BODY

Slashes of $6,500,000 and $5,250,000, Respectively, Are Recommended.

Cuts in the tentative estimates compiled by the District Commissioners for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930, were recommended last night by the Board of Trade, and the Citizens Advisory Council.

The board, acting through its board of directors and chairman of committees, recommended a reduction of $5,250,000, which would make the budget figure $41,288,000.

The advisory council, meeting in the District Building, completed its survey of the estimates of department heads, and recommended that reductions of $6,500,000 be made, in addition to reductions of $2,500,000 which it had previously recommended. This would bring their recommended budget down to slightly more than $39,000,000. The recommendations will be submitted to the Commissioners tomorrow.

$2,000,000 ON SCHOOLS.
Two million dollars was the cut recommended by the council in the school budget as compared with $700,000 the Commissioners instructed the board of education to trim from the estimates. These suggested cuts included disapproval of the creation of a new job of assistant superintendent of schools to supersede the present position of business manager, $100,000 of the sum asked to improve grounds to school buildings, half a million dollars from the fund asked for purchase of sites, $82,000 from the repair and improvement of schools and grounds, omission of a new junior high school in the Reno section, an addition to Park View School, a colored health school, a junior high school in the vicinity of Kingsman school and a new Jefferson junior high school building.

These buildings were recommended for deletion from the budget because no sites have yet been bought and sites are not usually acquired and buildings erected within the same fiscal year.

From Police Department estimates aggregating $134,000 were recommended.

Kidnaped Americans Released in Mexico

Mexico City, July 5 (A.P.).—The United States consulate in Guadalajara notified the embassy today that W. M. Mitchell and John F. Hooper, American mining men, who were kidnaped on June 22, had been released by their captors and had arrived in Guadalajara safe and well.

No details of their release were given.

Pastor Sent to Jail On Contempt Charge

Dallas, Tex., July 5 (A.P.).—The Rev. Earl Anderson, pastor of the Fundamental Baptist Church, was sent to jail today for contempt of court after residents in the vicinity of a tabernacle he is erecting complained that workmen were making so much noise it was impossible to sleep at night.

Judge Towne Young fined the minister $100 and sentenced him to jail until he posts $1,000 bond to assure observance of a restraining order issued last Tuesday against further work on the tabernacle. Dr. Anderson told the court he would not post the bond or pay the fine at this time.

Dr. J. Frank Norris, Fort Worth evangelist, advised Dr. Anderson not to pay the fine.

Richmond Real Estate Man Collapses While Clinging to Boat.

Richmond, Va., July 5 (A.P.).—Charles F. Ruehrmond, 48 years old, prominent Richmond real estate man, was drowned in the Potomac River yesterday near his summer home at Church Point Farm after he had rescued his wife and three other persons from drowning.

Mrs. Ruehrmond and the other three had been swept out into the river by a swift current, away from a rowboat around which they were swimming. Seeing their predicament Ruehrmond swam to the rescue and brought them, one by one, to the boat. Nearing exhaustion after his battle with the river currents, he clung to the side of the boat as it was rowed toward the shore. When nearing the shore, those in the boat missed him. It is believed Ruehrmond collapsed before the boat was out of deep water.

A searching party was immediately at work but the body had not been recovered late tonight.

New York Will Greet Miss Earhart Today

New York, July 5 (A.P.).—New York's official welcome to the first woman successfully to complete an air crossing of the Atlantic will be extended tomorrow to Miss Amelia Earhart, due to arrive at Quanares tonight with Wilmer Stults and Lou Gordon, her copilot, aboard the liner President Roosevelt. The ship was to lie at Quanares overnight.

The fliers will be taken to the Battery aboard the Macom and to City Hall by automobile, where Acting Mayor McKee will extend the city's greetings. These ceremonies will be broadcast. The guests will follow the trail blazed by Col. Charles Lindbergh up Broadway to their hotel.

LOEWENSTEIN HOAX OR SUICIDE IS SEEN BY MANY IN DEATH

Some in Money Capitals Abroad Think Banker Still Is Alive.

PLUNGE FROM PLANE IS TERMED A RIDDLE

Belgian Financier's Stocks Had Suffered Reverses, It Is Pointed Out.

Paris, July 5 (A.P.).—Whether Capt. Alfred Loewenstein, Belgian financier, reputedly one of the richest men in the world, deliberately hurled himself from the private plane which was bearing him across the English Channel early today or was the victim of a tragic mistake was unknown tonight.

The usual routine police investigation was held today at Boulogne-sur-Mer, where the plane is said to have been discovered that when it was discovered that its wealthy owner had disappeared. The investigation, conducted only by a police commissioner without power to do more than merely ascertain the obvious facts, resulted in no conclusion.

The pilot, mechanic, two stenographers and valet who were in the plane on its transatlantic flight testified to their belief that Capt. Loewenstein's death was the result of a tragic mistake.

Many of His Stocks Had Fallen.
In many financial circles throughout the world, however, the theory of suicide was strongly urged. Its adherents pointed out that during the last month many of the stocks in which the Belgian magnate was interested had suffered severe reverses.

It was reported on the Paris Bourse that Capt. Loewenstein had been seriously worried recently over his financial affairs and that his failure to arrange loans within the last week for some of his Belgian companies had preyed seriously upon his mind.

"Loewenstein made a billion francs last year; why should he commit suicide?" asked one close friend.

The six persons in the plane gave their meager account of the affair to the police and then, with one exception, refused to talk. The exception was Mlle. Paule Bidalon, French stenographer, who said that her employer seemed to be in the best of health and spirits when he boarded the plane at Crocy.

Often Made Same Air Trip.
Capt. Loewenstein had been in the habit of traveling between Brussels and London almost every other day, and it was on one of these regular trips that he boarded his plane at Crocy last night. When it was over the English Channel the banker went to the washroom. Ten minutes later, his secretary, Hogson, said he still was away from the main compartment. Hogson went in search of him and found the exit door to the plane, on the far side of the washroom, open. The banker was missing.

The plane put back over its course in an effort to sight the body, but the CONTINUED ON PAGE 3, COLUMN 5.

MAN DROWNS AFTER RESCUING 4 IN RIVER

ITALIAN FLIERS LOSE WAY, LAND NEAR NATAL, BRAZIL, THEN TAKE OFF FOR RIO

Capt. Arturo Ferrarin, left, and Maj. Carlo Del Prete, who have completed the first nonstop flight from the mainland of Europe to the mainland of South America, establishing new world's endurance and distance records.

Henry Miller Service.

They brought their big seaplane, the Savoia-64, in which they previously had established a world record for duration flight, to the land after a flight that took them across the Mediterranean, through the Straits of Gibraltar and then southwest over the Atlantic via Cape Verde Islands.

Stormy weather with heavy clouds put the fliers in peril in the last hours of their effort and radio reports received here indicated that they had difficulty in maintaining their bearings after they reached the coast of Brazil. They were sighted over Port Natal at 4:05 p. m. and were then believed to be heading for Pernambuco. But 5 hours 45 minutes later they came down 10 miles north of Natal, at Point Genipabu. Poor visibility is believed to have caused their indecision.

Rio Is Disappointed.
The failure of the two intrepid Italians to wind up their nonstop flight at Rio Janeiro brought disappointment to a huge crowd of spectators in this city. Word that the fliers had gone beyond Natal, flying to the south, coupled with absence of any report of their landing near Pernambuco, spread rapidly through the capital and brought throngs to the waterfront. All day there were crowds about the bulletin boards eagerly scanning every bit of information on the flight that came from island stations and steamers en route.

Hopes were raised then lowered as the various reports, many of them conflicting, were made public. News that the airmen were near the Brazilian coast this morning and then that they had passed Pernambuco bound for Rio Janeiro was greeted with a frenzy of joy. Within a few hours the Italian Ambassador here was deluged with hundreds of telegrams of congratulations.

Celebration Goes On.
When the plane was sighted at Natal preparations were immediately begun to welcome the fliers here and special trains were ordered to carry aviation enthusiasts to Alfonso Aviation Field, where lights were ordered so that the aviators could land even if they arrived after dark. All Rio was a riot of color, with Italian and Brazilian flags intertwined, while big crowds cheered in front of a bulletin board. Although the aviators finally were forced to land far to the northward, the city kept right on celebrating, and the boulevards were crammed with excited persons.

Latest reports received here indicated that Capt. Ferrarin, even after he had turned back toward Natal, thought he was continuing toward Rio Janeiro, but finally discovering his error, was forced to land at Genipabu. To Get $25,000 Prize.

Rome, July 5 (A.P.).—The newspaper Giornal d'Italia issued an extra today with a dispatch stating that the Italian transatlantic plane of Capt. Ferrarin and Maj. Del Prete had been seen off the coast of Brazil.

The paper says that the fliers are likely to be awarded a 500,000-lire prize (about $25,000) for the first nonstop flight from Rome to Brazil instituted by a subscription of the Italian Chamber of Commerce at Rio Janeiro.

The flight has seized the imagination of the entire country and, while the newspapers have refrained from comment, desiring to wait until the safe arrival of the men is definitely known, the public is taking it for granted that

REICHSTAG APPROVES NEW CABINET'S PLANS

Berlin, July 5 (A.P.).—The reichstag voted approval of the new government's program today. The vote was 261 to 134, with 28 abstentions.

The governmental declaration, which was made by Dr. Hermann Mueller, the chancellor, on July 3, promised many reforms along social, labor and taxation lines, pledged loyalty to the League of Nations and international conciliation, paid tribute to Secretary Kellogg's antiwar pact, urged the fixation of the final sum of reparation payments, pleaded for disarmament and demanded the evacuation of the occupied areas.

"Big Tim" Murphy Leaves Only $1,100

Chicago, July 5 (A.P.).—"Big Tim" Murphy, whose individuality gave him a reputation for being a "racketeer de luxe," left only $1,100 for an estate, his will, filed today, disclosed.

During the time he headed the Gas Workers Union here, he was paid a weekly salary of $100. This continued during his term in Federal prison, where he was sentenced for complicity in the $100,000 Dearborn street railroad station robbery, and until a few weeks before his death. His estate is perhaps the smallest left by any of the "racketeers" and gangsters slain here.

Raditch Refuses Post Of Yugoslav Premier

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, July 5 (A.P.).—Stefan Raditch, the Croat peasant leader, tonight declined, because of illness, King Alexander's request that he form a new ministry to replace the Vukitch cabinet which resigned.

He assured the king, however, that he would use all his influence toward the reestablishment of harmony in the kingdom.

M. Raditch still is in the hospital as the result of wounds received during the recent disorders in parliament when his nephew, Paul Raditch, was killed.

Bolt Kills Four Boys At Carolina Resort

Hendersonville, N. C., July 5 (A.P.).—Four boys were killed and two badly injured when lightning struck a dwelling at Camp Minnehaha, a summer resort near here, tonight.

The injured youths were rushed to the Memorial Hospital at Hendersonville, where their condition was reported uncertain pending more thorough examination.

CANOEISTS FIND WOMAN'S BODY IN POTOMAC RAPIDS

Shooting the rapids of the upper Potomac River, two canoeists late yesterday espied the body of a woman, arched in a bathing suit, snagged to a rock 500 feet below Feeder Dam. A battered canoe, caught fast between rocks, was found nearby. The discovery gave rapid rise to the belief that the body was that of Miss Catherine Carr, 23 years old, of Hyattsville, Md., who, with Miss Margaret Anderson, 29, of 1620 R street northwest, lost her life while canoeing above the dam Tuesday night.

However, the finding of the canoe gave rise to a theory that still another woman could have met the fate that befell Miss Carr and Miss Anderson. A canoe, identified as the one used by Miss Carr and Miss Anderson when they left the latter's cottage near Rock Spring on Tuesday night, was found CONTINUED ON PAGE 2, COLUMN 7.

SON OF J. J. RASKOB DIES IN AUTO CRASH

Centerville, Md., July 5 (A.P.).—William F. Raskob 2d, son of John J. Raskob, vice president of the duPont Co. and chairman of the finance committee of the General Motors Corporation, was killed today when his automobile left the road near here and overturned.

Young Raskob was driving from his parents' home at Claymont, Del., to Mostly Hall, the family summer home at Pioneer Point, Md., near here. His car crossed the road, went off the edge, overturned in a shallow gully and then righted itself. The youth was thrown through the windshield and was found with his head crushed. He died before a physician arrived.

A verdict of accidental death was pronounced by Coroner Coursey after two physicians had examined the body. The youth's father had just returned from the Democratic convention at Houston, Tex., and was in New York City when the accident occurred.

William, one of twelve children, was a student at Yale.

Heavy Death Toll In German Storm

Berlin, July 5 (A.P.).—Reports from the provinces indicate that one of the worst windstorms in years visited Germany yesterday, taking a heavy toll of deaths and property damage.

A chimney collapsed at Praelakretscham, Silesia, killing four workmen and injuring three others. A factory chimney collapsed at Zawada, near Gliwicz, killing one man and injuring three, while another person was killed in Gliwicz.

In Berlin one person was killed and many injured. A hangar at the Tempelhof Airfield collapsed, destroying four airplanes.

GEN. NOBLE HOPES 6 MEN ON GAS BAG OF ITALIA SURVIVE

Urges That Search Be Made
12 to 15 Miles From the Scene of Crash.

ADVANCES 2 THEORIES
FOR CLOUD OF SMOKE

Big Icebreaker Is Damaged, but Refugees Drift in Its Direction.

Rome, July 5 (A.P.).—Although still uncertain as to what happened to the six men aboard the gas bag of the dirigible Italia when it tore loose from the main gondola on May 25, Gen. Umberto Nobile still has hopes that they may be alive.

In a new official report telling of the deep mystery which surrounds the fate of these men, Gen. Nobile recommended that a search be made over a region 12 to 15 miles from the point at which the gondola came down off Northeast Island. He felt that if the skeleton structure of the dirigible was not found at this distance it was highly probable that the gas bag had descended a few miles farther on in safety and that the six men might still be found alive.

Two Theories of Smoke.

Although several of the party which had been spilled on the ice from the gondola saw a huge cloud of smoke toward the east in the direction of the gas bag, Gen. Nobile himself did not hear of this until several days later. He advanced two theories as to what caused this cloud of smoke: one, that the gas bag itself had caught fire and the other that the smoke was produced by benzine and oil which had been dropped from the bag to keep it from descending too quickly.

The general felt that the bag could have descended safely because there was at least one man aboard it who was not harmed and who knew what to do in an emergency. This was Lieut. Ettore Arduino, who was seen passing along the dirigible's beam shortly after the gondola had been torn loose. While Arduino regarded those on the ice with stupefied eyes, he was not

205 LIVES ARE LOST KEEPING AWAY 11 FROM FIREWORKS

106 Drownings Reported as Result of Throngs Visiting Lakes and Rivers.

HEAT KILLS 12; AUTOS
CAUSE DEATHS OF 54

Lightning Fatal to 33, While 4
Die in Planes, Survey of Country Reveals.

Chicago, July 5 (A.P.).—The lives of 205 men, women and children were a Nation's sacrifice to the celebration of its 152nd birthday anniversary yesterday.

Fireworks claimed their share of victims, as they always have since the United States first began observing independence Day with fireworks, tin whistles and cannon crackers. There were eleven deaths in the cities of the country, according to the Associated Press tabulation.

Lakes and rivers, however, exacted the heaviest tribute of human life during the holiday, 106 drownings being reported. Motor car deaths ranked next to number with 54. Heat claimed 12 lives and lightning 33, while 4 were killed in plane crashes. In addition there were 15 deaths attributed to other causes directly connected with America's observance of the Fourth.

Temperature High in West.

Two densely populated areas—the middle Atlantic States and the Midwest—had more than half the country's total deaths for the day. In the former there were 68 fatalities, which was 5 more than occurred in the Midwest.

The mountain States and the Northwest had the best sectional records, with five deaths in each division.

Everywhere through the Midwest the temperature was high, contributing both to deaths by heat and by drowning. The Midwest led the country in the number of drownings, with 38, although the Middle Atlantic area had only 2 less.

The airplane accidents were at Joliet, Ill., where a pilot and two passengers plunged to death when the wing of their plane snapped, and at Beaumont, Tex., where one was killed.

Thousands Are Injured.

Three of the motor car deaths came in races, drivers being killed in Oregon, Pennsylvania and Wisconsin. The number of persons injured, many probably fatally, ran into the thousands. Premature explosion of a truckload of fireworks at Lamar, Mo., injured 25 persons as 5,000 gathered in the public square to witness the display.

In the larger cities the hospital beds of persons hurt during the day were crowded. In Chicago, where the observance of the day ran into the hundreds, Chicago, with an ordinance prohibiting the sale of fireworks, echoed all day with firecracker explosions, and reports from police and hospitals were that the number injured was probably greater than in recent years.

Ghandi Terrorizing
80,000, Is Report

London, July 5 (A.P.).—The movement of the nationalist Mohandas K. Ghandi, in Bombay, British India, is characterized by officials here as a political gesture. Reports have been published that Ghandi's organization was defying the government and terrorizing 80,000 villagers in the Bardoli district, where Ghandi is reported to be.

The trouble is explained by officials to London as growing out of the collection of taxes on the basis of new valuations made in 1927 by which taxes were increased 22 per cent. It is insisted that the disturbance is political, and not economical, in proof of which the fact is cited that in a neighboring district where a new assessment was imposed, there is no trouble. The situation is declared to be well in hand and the government is prepared to take all legal steps to enforce collection of the tax.

RHINE BATHERS FIND
CACHE OF CHAMPAGNE

Historic Ehrenbreitstein Scene of Free Drinking Party as Bottles Are Retrieved.

Coblenz, Germany, July 5 (A.P.).—The historic castle of Ehrenbreitstein, American headquarters during the occupation, was the scene of a free champagne party last night to which expert divers were especially welcome. But all comers to the bathing beach had wine if they wished it.

The party started when a bather diving into the Rhine discovered a cache of excellent champagnes on the river bank. The bather brought the bottles to the surface, then they held a jolly drinking party on the bank.

Inquiry showed that the bottles had been lowered into the river by a saloon keeper who was under investigation for selling liquor irregularly in the conduct of his business.

"Emperor's Carpet"
Is Sold for $110,000

London, July 5 (A.P.).—The "emperor's Persian carpet," given by Peter the Great of Russia to Leopold of Austria, was sold at Christie's today for 22,000 guineas ($110,000). The relic was bought by the International Art Gallery which has establishments in London, Paris and New York.

The carpet is of woven wool and silk in 21 colors. It is 25 feet long and 10 feet 8 inches wide and contains 18,000,000 knots, each tied separately. It was sold by the Austrian State Museum on the order of the reparations committee. A private firm bought it at that time.

11 Officers of Church
Accused of Assault

Hammond, Ind., July 5 (A.P.).—Eleven men, all deacons, elders or officers of the First Christian Church of Hammond, arrested on charges of conspiracy to commit a felony, will be tried in the Hammond city court tomorrow morning. The affidavits were sworn by Mrs. Elizabeth White. She is the wife of Fred White, who was severely injured last Sunday morning when he was pushed or fell down the church steps as he left the church with Judge Fred Barnett, who was also forcibly ejected, they claim.

There are two factions in the church. White and Barnett were attending church each Sunday morning when the trouble started.

STORM CENTER VISCONTI BYNG FOUGHT AND DEFENDED

Debate on Naming of Visconti
as Police Head Due July 11 in Parliament.

PAPER UPHOLDS FORCE

London, July 5 (A.P.).—The Manchester Guardian expresses the opinion that a good deal of the present acrimonious discussion over appointment of Visconti Byng as commissioner of the metropolitan police is misdirected.

The metropolitan force is exceptional among police forces, the Guardian says, and its government remains more aloof than any other. At a time when its methods are being questioned, there is even more need to appoint a commissioner of proved capacity and commanding position, standing outside the issues of recent party politics.

"It is a measure of Visconti Byng to say he has these qualifications," the Guardian continues. "It is seriously suggested that at the age of 68, with energies unimpaired, a man who but lately led an army to victory and engaged in the group of dental experts."

The elder Rich claims that the plates exhibited at his son's trial were not actually those of Miss King. A parole if the X-rays are found faulty is sought.

Junee Bull Ring Is Burned

El Paso, Tex., July 5 (A.P.).—The Junee bull ring, a famous entertainment center of the Mexican border city for nearly three decades, was destroyed by fire last night. The frame structure of the ring, which covers an area of 100,000 square feet, was completely gutted. The cause of the fire was undetermined.

search was unsuccessful and Pilot Drew brought it to Boulogne-sur-Mer, the nearest landing field. It had been traveling at a height of about 4,000 feet when Capt. Loewenstein's disappearance was discovered.

In Paris, London, Brussels and Berlin stock exchanges reacted quickly when the death of the financier became known. In Paris every security in which he was known to have been interested dropped sharply. A few solid reports that the report of the death was merely a spectacular story, however, were not enough to bring the market back to normal.

Capt. Loewenstein was known in Paris as a courageous operator on the stock exchange, frequently handling large sums of money for his clients. He was better known, however, as the owner of some of the finest race horses on the French turf and a frequent winner of the part mutuel betting machines.

"I'm born lucky," he is quoted as saying in a recent interview after receiving the latter's congratulations when one of his horses had won a long purse. "Everything I touch turns into money. The French touch was greatly assisted."

TREASON OF VENGEANCE AT GANGSTER FUNERAL

Frankie Yale Is Given Costly
Burial; Body in $15,000
Silver Casket.

TRIBUTE BY UNDERWORLD

New York, July 5 (A.P.).—The body of Frankie Yale, known in gangland as Frankie Yale, lay tonight in its $15,000 silver casket in a vault in a Brooklyn cemetery.

More than 5,000 persons, many from the underworlds of Chicago, Boston, Philadelphia and New York, paid final tribute to the leader at a funeral today, which some said surpassed that of Dion O'Bannon, slain racketeer, in Chicago recently.

The funeral came in the midst of a new outbreak of gang shootings and bombings in New York.

Yale was shot down at the wheel of his automobile in the residential section of Brooklyn. Four Chicago gangsters, who, authorities said, came here Saturday from Miami, Fla., after a conference with "Scarface" Al Capone, were being sought today as his machine-gun murderers.

A six-foot square floral piece carried with police believed a grim warning to Yale's slayers.

"We'll see them, kid," it read.

The casket was taken from the funeral home at St. Rosalia's Roman Catholic church in the Italian quarter. Following mass it was borne to the Holy Cross cemetery, and placed in a steel vault beside the grave of Yale's father.

In another part of Brooklyn early today a bomb partly wrecked a two-story building, killing five persons and hurled twelve persons from their beds. Three men are being held by police in the affair.

"Conspirators," known to police, were hunted today as the slayers of Edwin J. Croke, racketeer, in his automobile in Jersey, were being sought.

SENTENCING OF RICH
FOR LIFE REOPENED

Michigan Governor Agrees to Study of Girl Victim's
X-Ray Plates.

Lansing, Mich., July 5 (A.P.).—Gov. Fred W. Green and Justice William B. M. Bricker today agreed to a partial reopening of the case of Arthur C. Rich, son of George Rich, wealthy Battle Creek, Mich., steel manufacturer, convicted of criminally assaulting a young woman and sentenced to life imprisonment.

Rich was found guilty of having assaulted Miss Louise King, a Battle Creek College student, after striking her with his fist and breaking her jaw. It was decided today at a conference with the father and his attorneys to submit X-ray plates of the injuries of the girl to a group of dental experts.

The elder Rich claims that the plates exhibited at his son's trial were not actually those of Miss King. A parole if the X-rays are found faulty is sought.

HICKMAN'S CONVICTION SPEEDED IN APPEAL

California's Supreme Court
Sustains New Law on Insanity Pleas.

CASE WILL GO HIGHER

San Francisco, July 5 (A.P.).—The California Supreme Court today unanimously upheld the constitutionality of the law under which William Edward Hickman was tried and sentenced to hang for the murder of 12-year-old Marian Parker, of Los Angeles.

The decision sustained the trial court in Los Angeles which, after a jury trial, found Hickman sane when he committed the murder and sentenced him to death. The opinion held that in pleading "not guilty by reason of insanity," under a recently enacted provision of the State penal code, Hickman had not been denied his rights as a defendant under either the State or Federal Constitution as his appeal petition alleged, and that hence his sentence must stand.

Immediately after the supreme court's ruling Hickman's attorney, Jerome Walsh, announced in Kansas City that the case would be appealed to the Supreme Court of the United States.

The appeal would be taken under the fourteenth amendment to the Federal Constitution which guarantees a trial by "due process of law" and "equal protection" to all defendants. The State Supreme Court today ruled that the fourteenth amendment was not violated in this case as no defendant is compelled to plead "not guilty by reason of insanity." In so pleading, the court held, the accused admits commission of the crime alleged but denies responsibility for it.

In the Marian Parker murder case Hickman entered only one plea, "not guilty by reason of insanity." He was a druggist, with which Hickman was jointly accused with Wesley Hunt, 17, a former pal, and "not guilty by reason of insanity." He was convicted, found sane and sentenced to life imprisonment in the Quentin Prison where he has been in condemned room since his trial. He was sentenced to hang April 27, last, but execution was automatically postponed by his appeal.

The decision sent the case back to the Los Angeles Superior Court, where Hickman will be retried. Under the law a period of 30 days must elapse before this is done.

Hickman kidnapped and murdered Marian Parker, 12-year-old daughter of Perry M. Parker, Los Angeles banker, last December. After a chase up the coast to Mendocino, Ore., he was caught and brought to trial. He confessed.

Bulgar Moratorium
Given on Reparations

Sofia, Bulgaria, July 5 (A.P.).—The reparations commission has granted Bulgaria a six-month moratorium on the payment of 5,000,000 gold francs in reparations which were due in April because the Bulgarian treasury was drained in restoring the regions recently devastated by earthquake.

At the same time the commission proposed to give sympathetic consideration to Bulgaria's request for a reduction in the total sum of reparations due to the allied powers.

Courtney to Hop Off
To Canada Tomorrow

Horta, Island of Fayal, Azores, July 5 (A.P.).—Capt. Frank T. Courtney, British aviator, who is now on a transatlantic flight, now intends to leave the Azores at dawn Saturday for Montreal.

The captain had been held up by the breaking of a small propeller in his wireless apparatus, but has succeeded in borrowing a German propeller from the customs authorities. He made a successful trial flight yesterday.

GOV. SMITH CALLED TO SETTLE DISPUTE IN PARTY'S RANKS

Tammany and Proskauer-Van
Namee-Moskowitz Group
Is at Odds.

HIGH-HANDED METHODS CHARGED BY WIGWAM

Governor and Senator Pittman to Arrange Notification Tomorrow.

Albany, N. Y., July 5 (A.P.).—Details of the formal notification of Gov. Smith of his nomination for the Presidency by the Democratic national convention will be discussed and possibly determined at a conference here Saturday between the governor and Senator Key Pittman, of Nevada, chairman of the notification committee. The governor definitely announced the conference to-night upon his arrival from New York.

Coinciding with the governor's return "back home" among the "friends and neighbors" as he characterized them when Albany gave him several impromptu and formal demonstrations upon his nomination, came reports that one of the first pieces of campaign work he will be called upon to perform will be in the role of peacemaker. According to these reports considerable dissension has developed in the Smith camp between the strictly Tammany element and the Proskauer-Van Namee-Moskowitz group, so-called, and the governor, it is said, probably will have to step in and take a hand.

The governor's train, due at 7:01, was delayed 35 minutes by a freight car derailment near Hudson.

Condolences Sent Raskob.

Before the governor left his car a telegram was handed to him announcing the death in an automobile accident of William Raskob, son of John J. Raskob, chairman of the finance committee of General Motors Corporation, and member of the Smith party in the Houston convention. The governor immediately sent a message of condolence to Mr. Raskob.

The governor said he is not to have the reported conference with Senator Pittman until Saturday, and that he intends to remain in Albany until next Tuesday. Asked if the final details of his formal notification will be worked out at the Pittman conference, he said: "I just want to see him and talk things over with him."

It was reported here tonight that the notification, which probably will be in Albany, may be due at the end of July instead of in August. There was no confirmation of this obtainable. It also was reported that there is a desire to hold up the notification until after that of Secretary Hoover, which would make an August date more likely.

Proskauer Under Fire.

Much of the reported dissension in the Smith camp was said here to be based largely on the work of Supreme Court Justice Joseph M. Proskauer, of New York, whose activities at the Houston convention have led him to be dubbed the "Col. Houseknecht" of the Smith campaign. Peter Brady, prominent labor figure and now head of a labor banking institution, was reported to have openly expressed dissatisfaction with the Democratic platform, so far as labor is concerned, to Justice Proskauer, credited with much of the responsibility for the platform.

"Highhanded" was reported as the characterization of old-line Tammany men of the handling of the Smith convention campaign by George Van Namee, and even Mrs. Henry D. Moskowitz, who was the closest political advisor of the governor at Albany during the convention period, was reported as being criticized for not taking organization leaders sufficiently into consideration on Smith political affairs.

On July 10 the governor will address Boy Scouts of Greater New York at their camp at Bear Mountain. With 50 other prominent men, he will be the guest of Barron Collier, vice chairman of the Boy Scouts Federation of Greater New York. On that day the party will make the journey up the Hudson from New York on Mr. Collier's yacht. Gov. Smith's address on the occasion is expected by his friends to have a bearing on his political campaign for the Presidency.

Heflin Gives "Appreciation" Check to Klan Periodical

(Associated Press.)

A check for $250 sent by Senator Heflin, of Alabama, by Peter J. Maloney, broker and president of the Holy Name Society of the Archdiocese of New York, in "appreciation" of the senator's anti-Catholic speeches, has been turned over by Heflin to the Fellowship Forum published here.

In his letter of last month Mr. Maloney said Heflin's speeches were of great service to the Catholic Church, adding that he knew of "no one who has done more to make bigotry appear unlovely and mendacity sound absurd."

EFFORT TO HALT SHIP RATE COMPACT SEEN

Chairman O'Connor Denies Story That Board Is Soon to Be Dissolved.

T. V. O'Connor, chairman of the Shipping Board, charged last night that an effort apparently had been made to interfere with the settlement of the rate controversy between North Atlantic and North European ports. He based the assertion on an item appearing in a Rotterdam newspaper which he said related that the Shipping Board is to be dissolved.

"The only basis for this statement is that on Tuesday the board voted to invite bids for two of its lines," O'Connor said. "The invitations to bid provide for the continued operation of both lines, if sold, but unless satisfactory prices and guarantees of continuous operation are made by bidders, the board will continue to run both lines."

"No proposition to offer the remaining lines of the Shipping Board has been considered, and the board is not aware that its dissolution is even contemplated. The purpose of this press campaign undoubtedly is to prevent settlement of the rate questions above referred to."

The Shipping Board has decided to offer for sale the United States Lines and the American Merchant Lines which operate in the North Atlantic, United Kingdom and Continental European trade.

WORK CLARIFIES HIS FARM VIEWS

Notification in August.

It is probable that today will see a definite announcement regarding the date on which Mr. Hoover is to be formally notified of his nomination. The ceremony is to take place at the Hoover home, at Palo Alto, Calif., the first week in August. It probably will take place Saturday, August 11.

Once a date for this event has been set definite arrangements will be made with regard to Mr. Hoover's departure from here, his visit with President Coolidge in Wisconsin and his arrival in Palo Alto.

The situation with regard to the appointment of Eastern and Western campaign managers is a curious one, not to say a mysterious one. Especially is this so in the case of James W. Good, of Chicago, who has been offered the post of Western manager. Chairman Work, before he left for the summer White House, announced that Good would take the job.

Good Hedges on Statements.

Thus far Good himself has not announced his acceptance. Instead, he has hedged with statements that he did not know whether he could afford to neglect his law business for the arduous duties of Western campaign manager.

As for Senator Moses, he is known to have stated privately that he would accept the job of Eastern manager. What has caused the delay in his formal acceptance is not known. Whether he is to take the job probably will be settled at the conference tomorrow.

Secretary Hoover had luncheon in his office yesterday, and in addition to Chairman Work, had Undersecretary of the Treasury Ogden Mills as his guest. Mills was one of the first important Republicans in New York to come out for Hoover.

Among others who saw the nominee were Franklin Fort, of New Jersey, secretary of the national committee, and Senator Waterman, of Colorado. The latter gave Mr. Hoover a report on the situation in Colorado.

WISCONSIN'S GOVERNOR FISHES WITH COOLIDGE

Zimmerman Guest at Lodge;
Minnesota Executive Will Arrive Today.

HOOVER VISIT IS AWAITED

Superior, Wis., July 5 (A.P.).—President Coolidge found a new fishing companion today in Gov. Fred R. Zimmerman, of Wisconsin, whom he invited to come for a day-and-night visit to Cedar Island Lodge.

President Coolidge had gone fishing before the Wisconsin Governor reached the executive residence. He returned, however, to bid his guest welcome and then suggested fishing again.

Gov. Zimmerman will leave the lodge tomorrow with President Coolidge when the latter will come to Superior for his biweekly call at his office.

At that time it will be the turn of Gov. Christiansen, of Minnesota, and Representative Anderson, of Wisconsin, to be received by Mr. Coolidge. An engagement was made today for the chief executive of the neighboring State to pay his respects to President Coolidge. He will arrive in Superior tomorrow.

Remembering the sunrise breakfast yesterday of the Breakfast Club of Hollywood, for which the mayor was to have been guest of honor and for which he arose from his bed some six hours before the breakfast was over, some one telephoned his secretary at 11:30 this morning. The mayor was still in bed. But would he be at the 12 o'clock luncheon by 12:30? Assuredly.

At 1:15 some was sent into the hungry horde of Democrats a force of well-hoped shouting: "Paging Herbert Hoover."

And still his honor, the mayor, did not come. Luncheon was finally served and a number of speakers spoke of matters Democratic until 2 o'clock, but the mayor of New York City was not among the speakers, nor among those to whom the speakers spoke.

Colored Minister Urges Smith Votes

Declaring that it will be "the proudest act of the colored voters in all parts of the country to go to the polls in support of the Rev. R. B. Robinson, president of the National Afro-American Democratic League, with headquarters at 407 Louisiana avenue northwest, issued yesterday a call for negroes everywhere to rally to the Democratic standard.

Dr. Robinson, who was an organizer for the Democratic party under the late Senator Andreas Jones, of New Mexico, four years ago, accused the Republican party of failure to keep its practice on a level with its preachment concerning party today is not the party of Lincoln, but the party of the "Colored Man's Union."

"As the Republican Summer or Grant," he said, "the colored voter of today will prove not to be the voter of 65 years ago."

Luncheon for Curtis Given in Rhode Island

East Providence, R. I., July 5 (A.P.).—For brevity of oratory at a political event, the luncheon for Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, Republican nominee for the Vice Presidency, probably set a record today that will stand for some time to come.

Formal speaking occupied just 55 seconds. That time was consumed by the host, Frederick S. Peck, Republican national committeeman from Rhode Island and host of the day. The substance of his address to the 200 Republicans present was, "It is indeed an honor to have as our guest the next Vice President of the United States."

State officials, party leaders and Republican workers from all sections of Rhode Island gathered at the Aquantum Club to meet Senator Curtis.

Robinson Confers On Notification Plan

Hot Springs, Ark., July 5 (A.P.).—Senator Joseph T. Robinson conferred here today with the committee in charge of arrangements for the official notification of his nomination for Vice President on the Democratic ticket. The date for the ceremonies is to be set by the Democratic national committee at its meeting in New York next week.

Senator Robinson said it was probable his notification would follow by about a week that of the presidential nominee, Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York, whom Senator Robinson will meet at the national committee meeting in New York. With Mrs. Robinson and her mother, Mrs. Jesse Miller, Senator Robinson came here for four days of rest and recreation before leaving Monday for New York.

Mrs. Ross Is Favored For Committee Post

New York, July 5 (A.P.).—The New York Herald Tribune tomorrow will say that it was indicated at Smith headquarters that Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross, former Governor of Wyoming, has been chosen by the Smith campaign organization for vice chairman of the Democratic national committee.

The choice of the New York managers must be officially ratified by the party of the national committee at their meeting here Wednesday. But there is little doubt, however, that the committee members will approve the suggestions of the campaign directors.

Roumania to Harvest Huge Crop This Year

Roumania, which is the chief cereal exporting country of Europe, will have the largest harvest this fall of any in ten years, according to a statement by experts of the ministry of agriculture of Roumania, issued yesterday through the Roumanian Legation. All crops are in excellent condition, the statement declared.

In 1927, according to the statistics just received, 29,643,900 acres of land were under cultivation, showing an increase of 201,988 acres over 1926. This year's harvest will, it is expected, more than compensate for last year's crops which, because of unfavorable weather conditions, were slightly below the post-war average. It is significant, however, that cereal exports for 1927 were greater than for any previous year.

ATTEMPTS TO LINK DEBTS AND TREATY ON WAR ARE SEEN

Secret Pourparlers Between Six Other Capitals Said to Be Under Way.

FREEDOM OF RHINELAND ALSO MAY BE INCLUDED

London Reported to Consider Proposals From Paris as Premature.

(Special Cable Dispatch.)

Paris, July 5.—Secret pourparlers are going on between London and Paris to link up final negotiations regarding the Rhineland territory and Saar Basin. The former demand requires that Great Britain accede to the curtailment of 22 per cent in her reparations. This drags in war debts, as the London policy states that the reparations are required to help pay England's obligations to the United States.

The French believe that America's idealism in achieving plans for the treaty providing for the out-lay of war should prompt certain concessions on the part of Europe, best exemplified by partial cancellation of its claims.

The correspondent is informed that the British consider the French idea premature and likely to smash the treaty for the outlay of war if co-ordinated. Belgium, since the reparations priority payments are practically extinguished, is also little interested.

Germany is reported favorable toward feeling out Washington on the allied demands for reparations. Germany insists on the release of the Rhineland territory and Saar Basin. The former demand requires that Great Britain accede to the curtailment of 22 per cent in her reparations.

FANNY GARRISON WILLARD, PEACE ADVOCATE, DIES

Daughter of W. L. Garrison, She Was With Father in His Abolition Struggle.

LEADER IN MANY CAUSES

Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., July 5 (A.P.).—Fanny Garrison Willard, only daughter of William Lloyd Garrison, the abolitionist, died today, aged 83 years. She was born in Boston. Her early years were deeply affected by the anti-slavery struggle, in which her father for years risked death at the hands of mobs, and its concomitant forms, such as women's rights and the peace and temperance causes. Among her earliest recollections were those of helping her father read proof for his militant weekly, The Liberator.

At the home of her father she came into contact with all the leaders of the abolition movement, such as John Brown, Samuel J. May, Wendell Phillips, George Thompson and others. In the Civil War she met Henry Villard, New York Tribune, who was passing his leave in Boston. She and Villard were married in 1866.

Mrs. Villard continued his journalistic work for several years and then became secretary of the American Social Science Association. He later became president of the Northern Pacific Railroad and was for a short time the foremost figure in the railroad world. He died in 1900.

Mrs. Villard subsequently joined the movement for women's suffrage and was a notable figure in that cause. Later she was aligned with the peace movement, founding the Woman's Peace Society, based on the non-resistance doctrine of her father, who had been an inspirer of Tolstoi.

From 1881 until 1917 she was owner of the New York Evening Post, and of the Nation, a weekly edited by her brother, Samuel J. May. She was married in 1866 to Henry Villard, New York Tribune, who was passing his leave in Boston. She and Villard were married in 1866.

DR. LAMKIN WILL HEAD EDUCATION ASSOCIATION

Missouri Is Elected Without Opposition at Convention in Minneapolis.

DR. MAYO IS A SPEAKER

Minneapolis, July 5 (A.P.).—Dr. Uel W. Lamkin, president of Northwest Missouri State Teachers College at Maryville, was elected president of the National Education Association without opposition today. He will be installed at the closing business session Friday.

Equal educational opportunity for every boy and girl in America is his primary aim, said Dr. Lamkin, who began his teaching career as principal at Clinton, Mo., in 1897, and has since held various positions of trust in the Federal Division of Rehabilitation and director of the Federal Board for Vocational Education.

Re-elected without opposition was H. L. Smith, dean of the Indiana School of Education at Bloomington, as treasurer. Dr. Lamkin succeeded Miss Cornelia S. Adair, of Richmond, Va., who automatically becomes first vice president.

Speakers tonight were Dr. W. J. Mayo, Rochester, Minn., for the American Medical Association; M. C. Horack, Iowa City, Iowa, representing the American Bar Association, and Miss Mary McSkimmon, Brookline, Mass., for the educators.

The idea of medicine is to eliminate need of a physician, said Dr. Mayo, of the Mayo Clinic, and his aim is to prevent disease and prolong life.

Prof. J. B. Nash, New York University, said Americans are becoming button pushers and lever pullers, who exercise only when they leave to and who awake nights devising new machinery to relieve them of work. Life habits of wholesome exercise are needed, he said.

Retired Central High School Teacher's Funeral to Take Place Today.

Funeral services for Miss Mary Weddell, retired Central High School teacher, of 3190 Sixteenth street northwest, will be conducted this morning at 9:30 o'clock at the Central Presbyterian Church. Burial will be in Petersburg, Va.

Miss Weddell came to this city from Petersburg many years ago and became an instructor at the high school, which post she held for 28 years. She was prominent in the activities of the Central Presbyterian Church.

DR. F. H. SMITH DIES AT CHARLOTTESVILLE

Emeritus Professor of the University of Virginia Succumbs at 98.

Special to The Washington Post. Charlottesville, Va., July 5.—Francis H. Smith, professor emeritus of natural philosophy at the University of Virginia, died this afternoon at his home here in his ninety-ninth year. Prof. Smith, born in Leesburg, Va., was a son of Danie Grove and Eleanor Buckley. He was educated at Wesleyan College, Conn., and the University of Virginia, graduating from the latter institution with the degree of master of arts in 1871. After serving two years as assistant instructor of mathematics he was elected professor of natural philosophy.

At the outbreak of the Civil War Prof. Smith was elected by the Confederate Congress commissioner of weights and measures in association with Commodore Matthew Maury. Prof. Smith was the author of "The Outlines of Physics," a frequent contributor to magazines and journals.

In July, 1883, Prof. Smith married Miss Mary Stuart Harrison, daughter of Prof. Gessner Harrison. Surviving children are Dr. George Tucker Smith, surgeon in the Navy; James Duncan Smith, artist; Mrs. Eleanor Kent, and Mrs. I. Carrington Harrison, Danville.

Every American May Be Proud of His Country's Furniture

NEVER has the making of furniture attracted so many wonderful artisans as at the present time. It is now produced in styles of a quality equal to any in the world's history.

AMERICAN-MADE furniture enhances one of the oldest and most picturesque English homes of today—that of Eastnor Castle, Herefordshire, England.

COLONIAL furniture is America's own, created in those stirring days from the time of the settlement at Jamestown to 1776.

It is not surprising that this oil saves your motor for it's an oilier oil specially made to lubricate better and stand up to the last drop

"STANDARD" MOTOR OIL

"Standard" Greases, Transmission Oil and Gear Compound are made with the same care as "Standard" motor fuels and motor oils.

How much do you spend for gasoline? How much for tires? When did your battery last have water? The "Standard" Motor Record will tell you. Ask your "Standard" Service Station or dealer for a free copy.

Better Lubrication for a Longer Time

In his engine laboratory, a large truck manufacturer made a fifty-hour test to compare "Standard" Motor Oil with other oils under the same operating conditions. "Standard" Motor Oil not only showed 5 per cent greater initial speed, but maintained this speed during the test. With the other motor oils, the number of revolutions per minute at the end of the fifty hours was only half as great as at the beginning. This shows why in a modern, high speed motor "Standard" Motor Oil can be depended upon to provide a greater margin of safety.

THE UNCERTAIN EAST.

That the East will provide the real battleground in the November election hardly needed verification by the Hoover "spokesman," who announces a meeting of the Eastern Republican leaders here tomorrow to lay plans for the Atlantic campaign. It is already apparent that the Eastern States are debatable ground and the election may well be decided by the voters in these commonwealths. That both parties will concentrate their efforts in this disputed territory is obvious, and it is only natural that the Republicans should make it the first order of business.

Democratic leaders, whether rightly or not can not now be determined, have placed five normally Republican States in their column this year. The campaign on behalf of Gov. Smith will be based on the theory that he will carry New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island. Excepting only the campaign of 1912, when the Progressive ticket was in the field, no one of these States has gone Democratic in the last eight elections. Their normal Republican majorities would appear to be impregnable.

There is, however, sufficient basis for Democratic optimism, in some instances at least, to make Republican precautions essential. It can not be denied that Gov. Smith's personal popularity in New York, attested by his four successful campaigns for the governorship, leaves the result in that State an open question. It may also be contended with some force that the neighboring States of New Jersey and Connecticut contain many residents who have observed and become impressed with the record and achievements of the New York executive. The fact that Massachusetts can be carried by a Democrat, a wet and a Catholic was demonstrated no longer than two years ago.

In all of these States, moreover, Gov. Smith's declaration on prohibition is likely to add to his strength. It is in these Eastern States that the demand for change or repeal of the prohibition laws is most insistent. Many voters will be persuaded by this one issue to support the Democratic ticket. They will find the change in political allegiance made easy for them by the advances toward Republican doctrines which the Democrats have made this year in their platform. The Houston declaration of principles went a long way toward meeting the tariff convictions of the East.

All of these considerations present a new problem which the Republican strategists must meet. Instead of taking the support of the industrial East for granted they must make certain of its allegiance. It is the most uncertain region in the country, and can not be counted upon by Republicans to serve as the foundation on which they can build their plans for victory in other States.

TWENTY RICH ACRES.

The largest and in all probability most valuable piece of city real estate ever placed on the market is now being offered for sale in Philadelphia. Never before in the history of the United States have twenty acres of downtown real estate been made available to the public. The area is comparable to that which the Federal Government has just acquired here for its building program south of Pennsylvania avenue, but in Philadelphia the opportunity is open to all.

The story of present happenings in Philadelphia dates back almost 100 years, to the time when the Baldwin Locomotive Works was established there as a by-product of the infant railroad industry. The founders of the business, which now sells rolling stock to every civilized country in the world, picked a site which they no doubt thought would be forever beyond the line of Philadelphia's expansion. The 93 years that have elapsed have witnessed many changes. The railroads, the locomotive works and Philadelphia have all expanded. The industry can get no more city land at a reasonable figure, and Philadelphia demands what is now downtown property for other developments.

The pressure of its own demands and those of Philadelphia forced the Baldwin company to go out into the country. It could no longer afford to be cramped in buildings fronting Broad street, one of the city's main arteries. The noise and dirt of the company's operations were in strange contrast to the municipal developments.

velopment which is making the parkway one of the civic beauty spots of the country.

There probably will be slight difficulty in finding buyers for the property. The ground on which the factory stands offers sites of the sort that are off the market in most cities. Before many years the entire map of that section of Philadelphia will have been made over. Countless industries will be housed where but one carried on its business. What the founders of the locomotive works considered an outpost of the City of Philadelphia will have been absorbed into the heart of an entirely new community, the sort of city in which our forefathers had faith, but the rapidity of whose approach they could not visualize.

ITALY'S GALLANT FLIERS.

Once again the indomitable spirit of modern Italy has led to the establishment of new aviation records. Capt. Arturo Ferrarin and Maj. Carlo Del Prete took off last Tuesday in a huge Savoia monoplane from Montecello Airfield at Rome on a nonstop flight to South America. They have reached the American Continent, eclipsing by some 700 miles the previous distance record of 3,309 miles and breaking their own record for sustained flight. Few will be found to assert that as a result of this flight alone commercial air lines between Italy and South America will be opened. The trail has been pioneered, however, upon which air commerce of the future will be sped.

It is significant that this great flight was from East to West. Meteorological experts have been of the opinion for many months that the westward crossing between Europe and America could be most easily accomplished across the South Atlantic. Thus far the North Atlantic has been crossed westward but once and the voyage of the Bremen can not be rated completely successful. Ferrarin and Del Prete, however, have flown across the South Atlantic without untoward incident, following others who had flown from Europe to South America by easier stages. Their flight suggests the possibility that the intercontinental air lines of the future may follow the northern course between the United States and Europe, returning to their starting point via the South Atlantic.

In the meantime Italy, which has produced these two daring aviators, is to be congratulated. Proud possessors of the world's record both for sustained flight and distance covered, Ferrarin and Del Prete have earned a prominent position in aviation's roll of honor.

SALE OF FEDERAL SHIPS.

The Shipping Board has accepted the recommendation of its ship sales committee that the United States Lines and the American Merchant Lines be sold, and has directed the Merchant Fleet Corporation to prepare specifications and advertisements for the sale. The Fleet Corporation will need at least two weeks to prepare this material, after which advertisements must be inserted for at least 30 days. It seems probable that bids for these services will be opened about September 1, and if satisfactory offers are made most of the Government-owned freight and passenger ships will be transferred to private ownership shortly thereafter. The board also voted to sell the American Palmetto Line, operating ten cargo ships.

Selling the Government-owned merchant marine is no mean task. Property of such great value is involved that it is impossible to fix a definite or tentative price. It is certain that the lines will not bring anything near their replacement cost and that the purchaser will have to invest an additional sum in reconditioning and rebuilding, to fit the lines for competition with European operators. The board, therefore, has indicated eight alternate proposals upon which bids will be accepted, and it is estimated that some $25,000,000 will be involved in the sale.

Several groups are interested in the purchase. Most frequently mentioned is the American Transoceanic Corporation, which some time ago announced details of a plan for constructing four-day vessels. It is certain, however, that the Transoceanic Corporation will not be a lone bidder for the lines.

It is important that the Government be taken out of the shipping business, thus making it possible for the American merchant marine to develop itself to the fullest extent. The lines must be transferred to competent hands, however, willing and able to assume the task of rebuilding the merchant marine and expanding it until the American flag again assumes a prominent place upon the high seas. The sale of the United States and American lines will mark one of the most significant and important periods in American sea-faring annals.

LOWENSTEIN'S FATAL PLUNGE.

The death of Capt. Alfred Lowenstein, one of the richest men in Europe, by a mysterious fall from his private airplane while flying over the English Channel, has aroused the curiosity of the world. Rumors of suicide were circulated, while the passengers on the plane testified that in their belief Capt. Lowenstein had accidentally fallen. They stated that he had opened the wrong door in seeking the washroom, and had evidently plunged 4,000 feet down into the channel. His absence was noted by his secretary, who opened the door of the washroom and found the room empty.

Capt. Lowenstein was an aviation enthusiast, and had made many flights. The theory that his own plane was so unfamiliar to him that he passed through the wrong door and unwittingly stepped into space is not easy to accept. But a similar accident occurred recently in New York, when the bachelor occupant of a luxurious apartment opened one of three doors of identical appearance and plunged down an elevator shaft.

An examination into Capt. Lowenstein's financial affairs, which has already been undertaken, may throw light upon the tragedy. If his affairs were in good condition, as his associates assert, the theory of accidental death may be adopted by the authorities and the inquiry closed. In any event the death of the Belgian magnate arrests the world's attention because of its spectacular and dreadful circumstances.

LET THE WOMEN TACKLE IT.

Mrs. Fred T. Dubois, organizer of the District of Columbia Parent-Teacher Association and president of the Progressive Citizens Association of Georgetown, has dispatched a clarion call to the women of America to take over enforcement of the national prohibition laws. Mrs. Dubois, who has made a miserable failure of enforcing the law. Why not let women—not those who have political axes to grind, but those who have the interests of the hearth and home at heart, women who are actively connected with the great humanitarian societies, with the schools, the churches and child welfare organizations—have a try at it? "Give us the Army," she says, "the Navy and the Air Corps, the regular enforcement patrols and the aid of police forces in every city in the land and then see what happens."

This is no way, however, for women to go about enforcing the Volstead act. If prohibition enforcement is to become exclusively a feminine activity it would be a pity to belaud women's glory by having masculine forces do the heavy work. If women are to be charged with the enforcement of prohibition let them do it single-handed. Let them organize feminine patrol forces, a feminine prohibition army and navy and air corps and then the glory will be woman's alone.

The Army, the Navy, the Air Corps and the police forces of every city in the land have work to perform in addition to the enforcement of the Volstead act. "The law must be enforced" is more than an idle phrase, and includes vastly more than prohibition. It would be far easier to enforce other laws if prohibition enforcement could be handled separately. If the women of America are willing and able to take over this difficult task in its entirety let them get busy and the men of America will then be free to devote their attention to some of the other problems that confront this great and glorious Nation.

RUSSIA FACING FAMINE.

Soviet Russia is making a desperate effort to forestall famine by buying up wheat cargoes. Thousands of tons of wheat are now on their way to Russian ports, to fill the gap caused by the refusal of the peasants to grow grain beyond their own needs. Russian cities have been on short rations for many weeks in spite of the varied efforts of the government to export foodstuffs from the peasants. A country that was once Europe's granary now faces starvation.

In the meantime the overexploited concession granted to W. A. Harriman & Co., providing for the exploitation of manganese mines in the republic of Georgia, has been thrown up on account of the perjury of the soviet. This concession was to net the Russians $62,000,000 in royalties within twenty years, and $120,000,000 was to be the reward of the enterprising Americans who risked their capital on the good faith of the communists. About $3,500,000 is supposed to have been sunk by the American concern. The Harriman interests are now endeavoring to obtain repayment of the capital "invested."

The disintegration of the communist regime is apparent in other directions. From the first it has had to struggle with the peasants, who are slowly but surely wearing down the coterie of conspirators who control the government. The fanaticism of the young reds has been succeeded by pessimism as the communist experiment has broken down in one field after another. Russia is not producing enough to feed its people, and universal poverty and hardship are destroying the faith of the most devoted communists. The old slogans have lost their appeal. The world revolution, with Russia paramount, is a matter of jest. Life's realities have thrust themselves in and demolished the splendid dream of universal communism. Men who were aflame with zeal for the revolution are now worn down by the hard task of finding their daily bread. One or two really patriotic Russians are among the present leaders, but they are overwhelmed by the difficulties that surround them, and will be satisfied if the country escapes a widespread famine this year. In the universal destitution and confusion of counsel it is impossible to do constructive work in building up the state, especially when the basic element of progress—private ownership of property—has been swept away. The Russians are tied hand and foot in a monstrous coil of economic and political error. They were the fatal web that enfolds them, and they must work out by their own efforts as best they can.

AIR-LINKED AMERICAS.

A great deal more interest attaches to the reduction of air mail carriage to 5 cents an ounce after August 1 than appears upon the surface. It indicates that the passing over by the Government of this service to private enterprise, thus getting the Government out of business where private enterprises should be given right of way, has been attended with success. Although the loads for the planes do not yet satisfy expectation, the lower rate will stimulate the normally growing use of the air for mail, and bring about the condition sought, when this kind of mail transportation will be lowered in cost approximately to that of rail carriage. The volume of the mails carried by the United States already being double that of the rest of the world, the phenomenal growth during the ten years of air mail operations stands as a testimony to the progress of this country in the field of aviation. This bulk of air mail business now employs 22 routes and serves 80 per cent of the entire United States.

The annihilation of distance, the ready passing of borders, points to the linking by air of all the Americas. It is appropriate and pertinent that this should first be done through the avenues of mail communication. Nothing so develops trade as ease of such communication, and it is the prediction of officials that Latin America will presently be as readily served with air mail routes, through cooperation with this country, as are the parts of this country.

In view of the fact that the United States not only has advantages but suffers handicaps in extending its influence in the countries to the south, the ramification of air service, first for the mails, then for travel and eventually for carriage of commodities, will mean much for friendship. The undeveloped resources of the southern republics in commodities and fresh openings for commercial dealings will be no less promoted than those intangible but valuable effects which may be derived from culture. It has become an axiom that mutualities of cultural sympathies and understanding lies at the base of the successful promotion of trade with South America. Linking the Americas through the air will insure all this.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has reduced freight rates on checkers and dominoes shipped in carload lots. This will be a great boon and blessing to those who use checkers and dominoes in carload lots.

"Shake!"

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

Spent More for Peace.
To the Editor of The Post—Sir: It has been estimated that the direct financial cost of the World War reached a total of 187 billion dollars. What an object lesson to the human race! It is doubtful whether that much money was ever spent to promote peace in the world's history. If the world would spend as much for peace as it does for war we would have peace. One hundred and eighty-seven billion spent in one war!

You ministers of the gospel, you editors of the secular and religious press, you moral philosophers, philanthropists and patriots, you professors of colleges and universities, you leaders and reformers of the people, in the name of God and humanity, I implore you to get earnestly to work for worldwide peace. Let us forget! Let us forget the woes, the horrors, the tragedies of the World War, and let another such calamity steal upon us.

I am glad to note that President Coolidge made a good speech on Memorial Day for world peace, and that Secretary Kellogg has made a good move for world peace after being prompted by Briand of France, who is an enthusiastic supporter of the World Court and the League of Nations.

J. W. OGDEN.
Coleman Falls, Va., July 4.

Bootleggers Win on Both Platforms.
To the Editor of The Post—Sir: By great, good management and wise political maneuvering the bootleggers have come into their own, aided by the stupidity of the politicians of both parties.

By the prohibition plank in both party platforms they are assured of a continuance of our futile attempt at prohibition, that attempt upon which rests the reason of being of the bootlegger.

The bootleggers have good reason to hope for more drastic prohibition laws with the consequent increase, both in profits and in volume, of the present illegal and utterly uncontrolled liquor traffic, so much more prosperous, wealthy and politically powerful than was ever the old open saloon traffic which, until the present traffic, had got the support of the Anti-Saloon League.

The Democratic platform, near its beginning, declares for the rights of the States, and then in its prohibition plank declares for depriving the States of their rights.

The Democratic logic bearing upon the matter seems to be: Since the treaty prohibition laws, on the one hand and the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law on the other, mutually and perfectly prevent each other's enforcement so that there can not possibly be enforcement of prohibition laws, as such, it is then, by the course of sufficient reasoning, perfectly proper to put into a prohibition plank any kind of silly enforcement twaddle that will satisfy the dregs and hold the bootleg vote, support and cash contributions.

Of course, it won't work that way: for the prohibition plank in the Republican platform makes just as high a bid for the support of the bootleggers and the dregs as does the Democratic plank.

Mr. Hoover, if elected, has a far simpler job than has Mr. Smith, if elected, though by no means a really easy job.

All he has to do, when inaugurated, is to reverse himself from his present administration policy of enforcing the rum pact treaties and thus, as per Supreme Court finding, nullifying the eighteenth amendment and the Volstead law. Then he must turn to the confiscation of all foreign ships found in our waters with alcoholic beverages

You Can't Enjoy the Journey If You Fret About the Baggage
—By ROBERT QUILEN

TWO young men set forth on a journey to a far country. Their hearts and their feet were light, for they had great expectations; and neither carried any provisions for the morrow, for they had faith and hope.

When the first day was ended they sat by a fire and talked. "I saw a curious snake on a rock," said one of the young men, "and a flower blooming in a rotten stump. I saw a rainbow above a waterfall, and enjoyed a mock battle between two silly young goats. Many good thoughts came to me during the day and I meditated to develop wisdom. It has been a profitable day."

"Yes," said the other, "it has been profitable." He began to empty his pockets of stones and piled them on the ground at his feet. "All of these," said he, "contain some valuable metal. Enough of them would make me rich. You should use your eyes, my friend, and gather these treasures as you walk."

"But aren't they heavy?" the other objected. "You will get very tired."

"Doubtless I shall, but the stones are worth it. One must pay for everything."

When morning came, the young men resumed their journey. But they no longer walked side by side. One walked slowly, pausing now and then to examine a tree or to exchange words with some other traveler. He breathed deeply of the mountain air; sipped water from a spring; listened closely to catch the last faint note of a bird song. The wine of life was pleasing to his palate.

The other young man walked rapidly. He climbed hills, leaped ditches and descended into deep valleys, his quick eyes turning here and there to catch the glint of metal.

Thus the days passed and the months and years, for it was a long journey. The young men grew old. One traveled in placid contentment, finding joy and wisdom; the other found rocks and his back was bent beneath a burden.

At last they reached the far country and were stopped at the frontier by a kind old man who stood in the highway.

"Lay down your burdens," said he, "and come in."

"Not I," said the man with the burden of stones. "I have been a long while gathering these, and they are precious. Who are you to give me orders?"

The kind old man smiled sadly. He had heard such words many times.

"I am death," said he.

Mr. Hoover thought he had a big job in Belgium, but just wait until he hears the pathetic cries of the great American job-hunter.

Liquor may continue to be a political issue, but in the course of time it may be necessary for the candidates to explain what it is.

Be frank. Just write to her: "Yes, dear; we'll be glad to have you for the week-end if you won't tell your silly boy friends you'll be here."

(Copyright, 1928.)

on board as the only practical way of "vigilantly and sincerely enforcing the eighteenth amendment," and thus turn himself into a Bosh abolitionist of commerce.

Mr. Smith, if elected, will have much more complicated work. It is true that he is pledged only to "an honest effort," while Mr. Hoover is pledged to accomplishment; but Mr. Smith must make an honest effort at three impossibilities, while Mr. Hoover has to accomplish only one impossibility.

Mr. Smith must make an honest effort to abolish commerce, the abolition of which Mr. Hoover is pledged to effect, and besides, must make an honest effort to enforce negro suffrage in the Southern States and an honest effort to enforce prohibition laws which don't allow themselves to be enforced except by breaking each other.

The situation is somewhat clarified by Mr. Smith's pronouncement to the effect that he, while fulfilling his pledge to an honest effort to do three perfectly impossible things, will try to modify our silly attempt at prohibition.

Two of the most wonderful things in this wonderful country of ours are the wonderful way in which our political party platform builders can so solemnly exude silly twaddle and the wonderful way in which we, the people, can sop it up.

We are the people. Long will we wave. WILLIAM W. KIMBALL, Old Brick, Paris, Me., July 4.

PRESS COMMENT.

But Where?
Pittsburgh Post-Gazette: If the Western man who spent $9.08 on his presidential candidacy had bought a railroad ticket for the same price he would have gotten somewhere.

"Still" Prohibition.
Nashville Banner: "Still a Prohibitionist."—Headline. Well, there are still that have done more to induce people to stop trying to drink liquor than almost any other agency one might mention.

St. Louis Post-Dispatch: A New York bootlegger was unable to pay a fine because he sold his liquor on trust, which is also the way most people buy it.

Cooperation Needed.
Cincinnati Enquirer: Chicago gangsters do the best they can in killing off the gangsters, but apparently the police don't give them enough help.

The Strong Weak Sex.
Athlison Globe: Why call women the weaker sex? They wear less clothes in winter than men do, and catch cold less frequently.

Perfectly Balanced.
Topeka Capital: Clem Shaver, Democratic national committee chairman, claims for the Smith and Robinson ticket that "it is one of the best balanced ever named." It is balanced, all right, with a wet head and a dry tail.

Expensive Learning.
New Orleans Times-Picayune: "It costs two and a half times as much to teach a child today as it did fifteen years ago," says the United States Bureau of Education. Is it possible that the old folks had that much more sense?

The Intelligent Composer.
Chautauk Tribune: The month's award for cynical yet setting is handed the Kansas City genius who described a well-known concert artist as "the prominent painist."

Wire Tappers.
Philadelphia Inquirer: Now that prohibition enforcement officers are to wear uniforms, we suggest they also be equipped with spurs for pole climbing, wire cutters, pliers, and a few other elementary tools necessary for the "dirty business" of wire-tapping.

Would Spoil Scenery.
New Orleans Times-Picayune: "Hand-rolled men handkerchiefs must carry a higher duty," says the United States Customs Court. But who cares as long as hand-rolled hosiery tops are not penalized.

A Mere Teaser.
Ohio State Journal: Another sex distinction, unfortunately ineradicable it seems, is that a woman thinks half a fried chicken a piece is plenty.

Cause of War.
Des Moines Register: When we hear a Chinese orchestra we have a better idea of what makes the Chinese fighting mad.

Preparedness.
Atlanta Constitution: Sensing a billion-dollar tourist movement from the United States, France has adopted the gold standard.

Perfect Safety Here.

CALL MONEY PLENTIFUL

Special to The Washington Post.

New York, July 5.—The stock market gave an exhibition of underlying strength throughout today's session in which, with the exception of about a dozen stocks, the whole list moved forward, net gains extending to about 5 points in the main body of stocks, and considerably further in a few instances. Trading was active in the early part of the session, but showed a disposition to quiet down in the afternoon. The day's turnover was approximately 2,500,000 shares.

Call money was plentiful supply, 5 percent, after a renewal rate of 4 percent, and a further reduction was made to 5 percent. These developments furnished considerable ground for encouragement on the bull side of the market. Other bullish influences included the announcement of the $376,000,000 decrease in the stock exchange figures for the week ending June 23, which brokerage loans, the rumor pointed to the stock tickers that the unfilled orders of the United States Steel Corporation would be filled in the near future, and some informal remarks on the money market by the Secretary of the Treasury.

The death of Capt. Loewenstein depressed prices of stocks in which he was interested and had a generally unsettling influence on the European security market, but the effect here was small.

While many of the carrier stocks made a good showing, the traders were inclined to fight shy of the group on account of the latest car loading report for the week ending June 23, which furnished something of a puzzle.

It was in some respects the worst showing of the year to date, for although the week last year loaded 37,000 fewer cars than in 1926, there was further decrease of 31,271 this year, and the total for the year 1927 was much the largest of any week thus far in 1928, amounting to 5.5 per cent. It was also observed that barely half of the decrease from either year occurred in coal traffic, which has hitherto accounted for much the greater part of the reduction. The figures were 6,394 cars less than those for the same week in 1926 and 35,682 less than in 1923.

Speculation for the rise among the industrials and specialties was pronounced at times, particularly in the case of the recognized speculative leaders which proved responsive to operations for higher prices.

Active issues to score outstanding advances included Wright Airplane, 16 1/2 points; Curtiss, 6 1/2 points; Montgomery Ward, at a new peak price, 4 1/2; Sears Roebuck, also at a new high, 1 1/2; Du Pont, 1 1/2; Union Carbide, 5 1/2; Texas Pacific, 4 1/2; New York Central, 1 1/2; Washburn, 4 1/2; Texas Gulf Sulphur, 4 1/2; Freeport, Texas, 3 1/2; General Electric, 3 1/2; American Smelting, 2 1/2; Greene Cananea, 2 1/2; Marlin Rockwell, 2 1/2; International Harvester, 4 1/2; Goodrich, 2 1/2; Radio, 4 1/2; Tobacco Products, 2 1/2; Vanadium, 2 1/2; White Motors, 2 1/2; Union Carbide, 5 1/2; Mexican Seaboard Oil, 2 1/2; Richmond Oil, 1 1/2; and Houston Oil, 2 1/2.

Most of the gains in the specialties were found in the plus line at the close but many of them lost part of their early gains in a wave of profit taking that hit the market shortly before the announcement of the drop in the call money rate to 5 percent.

Strength in Texas & Pacific today and in recent sessions was predicated on reports of agreement on a plan by Missouri Pacific to take care of its preferred stock dividend arrearages. The plan was said to include Texas & Pacific. While a number of schemes have been discussed, in unusually well informed circles, it was stated that any report of definite measures to be taken would be premature to say the least. However, from any angle from which the position of Texas & Pacific is viewed, friends of the stock maintain that a rise was justified. On earnings alone the stock has been selling below many of the other Texas & Pacific issues.

Undoubtedly a good deal of buying of Montgomery Ward came from those who had had the best intentions in the world of taking a position for the long pull, but who have been waiting for a decline. They were not satisfied with the dip on the recent reaction and had no faith in the current recovery. Sentiment toward the stock was helped by an analysis published today by a leading stock exchange firm.

The decline in the call money rate in London to 3 1/2 per cent was followed by a heavy offering of sterling in the New York market, carrying the rate down 5-16 to 48 1/2-16 for cables, which closed, however, at 48 3/4-16.

Leading cotton futures also declined. French francs making a new low on a drop of 1/2 point to 3.92 for cables, which closed 1/2 up from the bottom. Dutch guilders yielded 1 1/2 points on the day, marks a like amount and Italian and Swiss rates declined fractionally, but pesetas picked up a point. Beiges gained 1/2 and Norwegian kroner a point. Chinese exchanges were weak, following a decline of 1/2 cent in silver, and Argentine was weak feature among South Americans, losing 4 points to 42.50.

New York Cotton.—The cotton market recovered part of its preholiday loss today, trading on a firm basis, and was closed at 22 1/2-1/2 for futures, 22 1/2-1/2 for spot, and 22 1/2-1/2 for cash. The general market closed at net advances of 4 1/2 to 4 3/4.

The decline in the call money rate, however, evidently made a bullish impression on the market, and the result was an increase in demand which carried active trading in the afternoon. Demand tapered off, however, as the market moved toward the close, and the result was a decline of 1/2 point to 22 1/2-1/2 for futures, 22 1/2-1/2 for spot, and 22 1/2-1/2 for cash.

GREAT U. S. TRACK ARMY IN FINAL TEST TODAY

2 Australians Beat Tilden-Hunter
Hawkes and Patterson Win 5-Set Semifinal At Wimbledon.
Hennessey-Lott Lose; Miss Wills Is Lone American Hope.

WIMBLEDON, July 5 (A.P.).—Beaten first by Australia and then by France, America's two remaining doubles teams, Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter and George Lott and John Hennessey, were swept out of the Wimbledon tennis championships today, leaving only Helen Wills in the singles and Miss Wills and Hunter in the mixed doubles.

Miss Elizabeth Ryan, former California player, remains in the competition both in the women's and men's events. Her partner in the women's events is Mrs. Joan Austin Lyett and she plays in the mixed doubles with P. D. B. Spence, South Africa.

Hunter and Tilden barely failed to defeat Hawkes and Patterson as Tilden narrowly missed victory over Lacoste yesterday. The spectacular five-set match, which went to the Australians, 7-9, 7-9, 6-4, 6-4, 10-8, was fought out, point by point, like one prolonged set. The Australians won 36 games to 34 for the Americans, but Tilden and Hunter scored just as many points as did their opponents.

The Australian-American four provided all the thrills possible from tennis. Patterson's speed and power, Hawkes' style and genius at doubles tactics, Hunter's intense concentration and Tilden's fine all-round play, kept the contest even until the very last. Tilden was master of them all until he cracked at the crucial moment, yielding his service allowed Patterson to go for the game which meant victory.

With everything to gain Patterson hit with the grandstand and another was hit so high Tilden could not locate it when he looked aloft, and Hunter had to point it out. Tilden waited seconds.

Hawkes' supreme mastery of doubles strategy probably turned the contest to Australia's favor. He lost many points through wild hitting, but Hawkes held him steady and found every unguarded spot on the Americans' court.

Once Patterson knocked a ball to the roof of the grandstand and another was hit so high Tilden could not locate it when he looked aloft, and Hunter had to point it out. Tilden waited seconds.

Pare Again Winner In Western Tourney

Dayton, Ohio, July 5 (A.P.).—Donald Cram, of Nashville, Tenn., Southern, regate champion, was eliminated from the men's singles of the Western tennis tournament today by Billy Clines, of Louisville, Ky., who has been making it hot for the seeded stars.

The singles title play had reached the quarter-final stage with formidable contenders still in the running. Emmett Parr, George O'Connell and Ellis Klingenberg, of Chicago, Bruce Barnes, of Houston, James Quick, of Dallas; Gordon Lum, of China, and Kirk Reid, of Cleveland, will battle tomorrow for places in the semifinals. Young Clines completes the bracket. Parr defeated Gus Feuer, Miami, 6-3, 6-2, today.

Columbia, California, Yale Crews Win in Trial Races

By F. C. VOSBURGH (Associated Press Staff Writer). PHILADELPHIA, July 5 (A.P.).—In as thrilling a trial of speed as ever was rowed in one eventful afternoon, the University of California eight-oared crew conquered Princeton in the Olympic trials on the Schuylkill, and Columbia outclassed Harvard, while Yale swept to victory over the Wyandotte (Mich.) Boat Club.

Cole Leads 6 Public Links Eligibles
143 Score Is Lowest in Qualifying for U. S. Tourney.
3 From East Potomac and Rock Creek to Represent D. C.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST. PUBLIC link golfers yesterday competed in a qualifying round of 36 holes for eligibility to play in the national amateur public links championship, the Cobbs Creek Course, Philadelphia, beginning July 31. As the United States Golf Association allows six players from each city to compete for the national event, the honor of representing Washington was won by the six contestants who led the field yesterday in medal play, three at East Potomac Park and three at Rock Creek Park. All are eligible to enter the national event, but whether they will take advantage of the opportunity may depend upon the expense involved.

The trio who led at East Potomac Park were Charles S. Cole, Jr., 143; C. M. Merrill, 149; and A. S. Wagon, 150. At Rock Creek Park the three leaders were Earl McAler and John R. Miller, who tied at 148, and Bradley H. Burrows, better known as "Ted," who scored 153. Cole, who led the Potomac Park contingent at the conclusion of the morning round with 73, improved in the afternoon and turned in a 70, so that he was at no time in danger.

Robert B. Burton, who led the field yesterday, failed to be a danger again this year with a 74 for the morning round, but could not do better than 80 in the afternoon, which eliminated him from the contest. Both Merrill and Wagon are well-known on the public links, although neither has yet been identified with a national event. Cole's card was as follows:

Table with 10 columns: Player, Team, W, L, T, Pct., Hits, Errors, etc. Rows include G. A. B. R. H. B. etc.

State Netmen Bow To Treasury Team, 4-1

After getting off to a bad start the Treasury tennis team came back and won over the State netmen yesterday, 4 to 1, in a Department League match. All of the sets were closely played, with the State team featuring, Constance and Simmons won the only match of the day for State, defeating Charest and Purinton, 6-3, 9-7.

Pro Golfers to Play At Rock Creek Today

A large gallery is expected at the Rock Creek Golf Club this afternoon to follow the exhibition match in which Fred McLeod, Columbia, and Walter Hall, Rock Creek Park, will be paired against J. Munro Hunter and George Diefenbach, professional and assistant professional at Indian Spring. The match will be played at the course.

Earnshaw, Athletics, Holds Boston to 3 Hits

Philadelphia, July 5 (A.P.).—Two big innings gave the Athletics a victory over the Red Sox, 5 to 0, in the final of their series today and made it five out of six for the Mackmen. George Earnshaw, former Baltimore star, won his first game in seven starts in the big leagues by letting the Red Sox down with three widely scattered hits. Herb Bradley started for the Carriager team and was touched for all of the Athletics' runs, letting in three in the fourth and two in the fifth. Pat Simmons, a rookie, held the Mammen sammy Hale, Philadelphia third baseman, led the attack with a pair of doubles and a triple. The first two-bagger came in the fourth, with the bases filled, and accounted for two runs. Boston, A. B. R. H. B. E. etc.

Boxer Refuses Bout On Foul and Losses

Asheville, N. C., July 5 (A.P.).—Bobby Kress, of Lynchburg, Va., after being given the decision on a foul in the third round here last night in his eight-round fight with Johnny Burton, decided not to accept the verdict and continued. He lost the decision.

30 Women Entered In Armour's Tourney

Mrs. H. A. Knox, who has charge of the Tommy Armour women's golf tournament, announced today that 30 women are entered in the tourney, this morning on the course of the Congressional Country Club, stated last night that already more than 30 women players have submitted their names for the field will be increased this morning, when the players gather at the first Ste. Armour has generously donated the prizes.

40 Sprinters In Olympic Tryouts

PHILADELPHIA, July 5 (A.P.).—Forty champion sprinters tonight were waiting for the start of what promises to be the greatest sprint race ever run, the 100 meters dash, which will wind up tomorrow's Olympic tryout program at the Harvard Stadium. Every section of the country will be represented. The winner probably will be forced either to face or break the world's record of 10 3/5 seconds, for the fleetest field ever assembled will be pushing him on to the tape. To the victor will go not only Olympic recognition, but also the national sprinting title, now held by Chester Bowman, of the Newark Athletic Club, who will defend it.

Doherty, of Detroit, Victor In Olympic Decathlon Trial
Slim Youth, Winning No Test, Makes Olympic Team With 3 Others—Plansky, Hurt, Quits—Only 10 Finish.

PHILADELPHIA, July 5 (A.P.).—Kenneth Doherty, of the Cadillac Athletic Club, Detroit, a slim youth weighing only 165 pounds, won the national decathlon championship today, scoring a total of 7660.55 points for the ten events.

Not a champion in any single event, he did not win a first place, but maintaining a good average in all, Doherty beat out a field of twenty-three contestants who started competition in the event Tuesday.

James Stewart, rangy Los Angeles Athletic Club entry, placed second with 7533.25 points; Barney Berlinger, of the University of Pennsylvania, was third, 7362.195, and Thomas Churchill, of the University of Oklahoma, was fourth with 7203.20.

18-Game Stand Against West May Decide Nationals' Fate

Closely Bunched Second Division Teams to Invade; Third Place Harris' Goal. Recent Errors Many.

By FRANK H. YOUNG. WASHINGTON this afternoon opens its second 1928 home stand against Western invaders, the first of which will be the Chicago White Sox, the new leaders of the National League, who succeeded Ray Schalk as manager on Independence Day. Not only will they be the first under a new manager, but they also mark the beginning of a series of crucial series for the Sox, who must travel at a fast pace if they hope to get the best of the Yankees. The White Sox apparently have recovered from the blow at the hands of "Doc" Stump and are only one game behind the Yankees in the race for the Eastern swing. Even the third-place Browns could be displaced and, while the West is battling such teams as the Yankees and Mackays, Manager Harris and his henchmen are counting on making considerable hay.

There is no question but what the opportunity for the Sox is especially when they meet Howley's men face to face. There is some question as to whether or not the Sox will be able to take advantage of the chance.

Breaking even with the Yankees in the set just closed, and forcing "Ruth & Co." to eleven innings in "e" or "f" losses, has given the White Sox a morale boost and confidence in themselves, as also

New Post Not Temporary, White Sox Pilot Declares

DOUBTS as to the permanency of his newly-gained post as manager of the Chicago White Sox were dispelled yesterday by Russell (Lena) Blackburne, former coach of the Chicago team, who arrived in Washington late yesterday for the start of the Nationals which begins today.

Blackburne was surprised to learn of reports that his appointment was temporary and that at least three other well-known baseball men were being considered as the successor of Ray Schalk, who resigned the manager's post on Wednesday and returned to the ranks as a catcher.

There was no intimation that my appointment was not permanent when I talked with Mr. Comiskey in Chicago last night. I have been given complete command and was told that I was the manager in fact as well as in name. There was nothing said about any other successor to Schalk. Mr. Comiskey and myself have a complete understanding."

Blackburne assumes charge of the White Sox at a time when they are wallowing in the ranks of the second division, but he expressed himself last night as being well pleased with the prospects of the team and was confident that a first-division berth was not yet out of reach.

"I have not planned any radical changes in the personnel of the club as yet, but I will make any that I see fit," he declared. "I am well pleased with the spirit of the team and I feel that they are in the first division or close to it."

At their hotel last night, a new spirit seemed to pervade the White Sox. Generated in all probability by the accession of an aggressive personality like Blackburne to the management, Baseball gossip during the past two seasons indicated that one of Schalk's failings as manager was his inability to instill a fighting spirit into the team and to maintain strict discipline.

In Blackburne, the White Sox acquire a manager who has a reputation for smartness and gameness, although he never played in the major leagues. An injury suffered in 1909 during the training trip with the White Sox ruined his big league career as a player.

Blackburne was in the International League for many years, playing with Baltimore and Toronto. He was bought by the White Sox in 1909 for $5,500, allowance.

40 Sprinters In Olympic Tryouts
Paddock, Other Vets, Menaced by Youths in 100 Meters.
All Marks in Danger; 27 Oppose Hahn in 800 Meters.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., July 5 (A.P.).—Forty champion sprinters tonight were waiting for the start of what promises to be the greatest sprint race ever run, the 100 meters dash, which will wind up tomorrow's Olympic tryout program at the Harvard Stadium. Every section of the country will be represented. The winner probably will be forced either to face or break the world's record of 10 3/5 seconds, for the fleetest field ever assembled will be pushing him on to the tape. To the victor will go not only Olympic recognition, but also the national sprinting title, now held by Chester Bowman, of the Newark Athletic Club, who will defend it.

The meet itself promises to be the greatest ever held. Every National A. A. U. champion, except Willie Rutoia, the Finnish distance runner, will strive to retain his laurels.

The world record in every event is threatened. It will be a battle of youth against age, for many brilliant high school boys appear capable of tossing Olympic veterans into the athletic discard.

Youth will compete against age more often in the 100 meters than in any other contest in the two-day competition. Four youngsters, Frank Wykoff, of Glendale, Calif.; Claude O. Bracey, of Texas; Nathaniel Dyer, of Whittier College, and Frank Lombardi, Los Angeles schoolboy, threaten to displace Charles Paddock and Jackson Scholz from the American Olympic team and overshadow such brilliant performers as Al Miller, Frank Hussey, Henry Russell, Roland George Lenses, one of America's best Olympic bets, a chance to break the world record of 1 minute 51.6 seconds, now held by Dr. Otto Peizer, Germany.

Twenty-seven other stars, including Ray Conner, of the Illinois A. C.; Ray Watson, the national champion; Sam Hines, of Los Angeles A. C., who will push Hahn to the limit. Unlike the 100-meter race, only the heats in the 800-meter will be held tomorrow, the final being reserved until Friday.

The 1,500 meters race, while lacking the brilliance of the middle-distance event, should also be a feature of the meet. Ray Conner's American record of the 800 robbed the 1,500 of much of its color, but the entry list still numbers such stellar stars as Ralph Huttner, the intercollegiate mile champion, Bill Cox, his runner-up; Charles Sansone, the New England mile champion, and Rudy Kiser, the national collegiate champion.

There are many other good college milers in the field, including veteran Jimmy Conolly and the equally experienced Harold Cutbill, the once famous "Flying Parson."

A field of 33 capable timber toppers have been ratified for the trials in the 110 meters hurdles, including Leigha Dye, of the Los Angeles A. C., who recently clipped a fifth of a second off Earl Thompson's world record of 14.4 seconds. Among the favorites is Ross Nichols, of Stanford, the intercollegiate champion, and the Easterners, Monty Wells, Earl McDonald and John Collier.

There will be no high jumping pole vaulting tomorrow, but the field program includes trials in the shot-put, broad jump, hammer, javelin, discus, running, hop, step and jump and the finals in the 56-pound weight, which will be for the National A. U. championship only.

The five best performances in each of the field events will qualify for the finals on Saturday.

The outstanding figures in the broad jump include De Hart Hubbard, of Cincinnati, the defending champion; Ed Hamm, of Georgia Tech; Kimball Dyer, of Stanford; Alfre Baker, of Penn State; Cecil B. Smith, of the University of Texas, and Glenn Rice, College of the Omahas.

John Kuck, of the Los Angeles A. C., will defend his national shot put title against such wonders as Eric Krenz and Albert Foster, of Stanford University; John P. Anderson, of Cornell; Pat MacDonald, the New York Olympic veteran and ten other capable competitors.

Krenz will be called upon to defend his national discus title and he will be opposed by Clarence L. "Bud" Jousner, the 1924 Olympic champion; Gilbert Welch, of Pittsburgh; Jesse L. Baldwin, of Texas, and other sectional champions.

The javelins will bring together Charles Harlow, of Los Angeles, the 1922 national champion; Creth Hines, of Georgetown, the intercollegiate titlist; Arthur Sager, of the Boston A. A. and many another who are in the thick of the season, which closes when the final trials end Saturday night and the American Olympic team is named.

RECREATION WINNS 3-RACE FEATU A EMPIRE

Nimba's Drive Failure in Stretch

Flippant Closes Fast to Take 2d Place Money.

Grand King Winner in Substitute Fifth at Latonia.

NEW YORK, July 5 (A.P.).—Ten thousand fans packed to the Empire City track today for the first card of the meeting and saw Jefferson Livingston's Recreation, heavily favored at 13 to 5, score an easy victory in the Empire City Handicap, $5,000 added.

The 4-year-old daughter of Spanish Prince II—Eddie Savings, outstayed Flippant and Nimba, the only other starters, to win by three lengths going away. Nimba, an odds-on choice at 13 to 20, gave Recreation a battle for a mile and then blew.

A substitute fifth race was Latonia's feature. The 3-year-old and up for $1,000, second and Grand King, with California sent and Raving Lady. The time was 1:51.24.

Rice Juniors Win Over Federals, 18 to 6

The Sam Rice Juniors made it thirteen out of fourteen for the season yesterday by defeating the Federal A's, 18 to 6, in the Rosedale playground, Wood, Shackleford and Raftery starred at bat for the winners. Sunday the Rice Juniors play the Langley's at Rosedale at 1 o'clock in a Sport Mart League game.

DELORIMER PARK RESULTS.

FIRST RACE—Five and one-half furlongs. $1,000. Claiming. For 3-year-olds and up. Winner, 1:50.00; second, 2:25.00; third, 2:50.00. Winner, 1:50.00; second, 2:25.00; third, 2:50.00.

COLLIER'S COMMENT on the SPORT of KINGS

Huddle, fellows, huddle. Now don't tell me you birds are not a little better. $44.40 and right back with advice that you take the rubber of the old bank roll. No wonder the common enemy is hanging on the ropes. Yea, ho, and let's keep him there—sock 'em, fellows, sock 'em. All of which leads up to today's "huddle."

Down at Latonia, the happy gag is none other than GREAT SPORT, a superior mudder. Sure, its ankle deep in gumbo again today. There was also a good sized commission reported out of the rubber of the old lady's bank roll.

In the day's opener, BEST SPADE has a five-point call and should tip-top this field. The opposition, if such it can be called, will in all probability come from BOB JOHNSON.

PETER PARLAY is another that is sure to go well and if we don't have any more mudders, we have at least four good winners for you.

Over at Windsor, where the boys have been hitting 'em high, wide and handsome, the happy chatter is EDDIE RICKENBACHER to bring home the bacon.

However, listen—EDDIE must have a fast or good track for his best effort. Hence, if mud comes, duck.

Other hand, I know where a job of commissions are planted, so get yours. He favors this track.

OTRICK is another that found favor overnight. He is sharp as a tack, while betting on OTRICK to bring home the good cheer in the fourth is like robbing the old lady's bank roll.

They will probably send PRICEMAN to the glue factory if he fails to beat the band of hash hounds he is stacked up against in the fifth at Fort Erie.

He has a wide call.

Yes, just noticed a job of commissions floating through on LUCKY TIDE to bring home the bacon in the fifth's opener. Now let your conscience be your guide.

WINDSOR.

FIELD OF 83 SEEKS PUBLIC PARKS TENNIS TITLE

7 Are Seeded In Municipal Tourney

Tournament to Open Tomorrow on Four Courts of City.

D. Mitchell, Twice Champion, to Defend Title.

DOOLEY MITCHELL, twice public parks tennis champion, will defend his title against a stellar field of District courtmen when the public parks tennis championship tournament starts tomorrow on the Monument, Rock Creek, Potomac and Henry Parks courts.

With an entry list of more than 80 players prominent in Washington's tennis circles, the matches should sparkle with some brilliant tennis. Bob Considine, Colin Stann, Larry Phillips, M. V. O'Neill, Leopoldo Cornejo and Frank Shore, together with Mitchell, were seeded in the draw and will meet in the final rounds if no upsets prevail during the early rounds of play.

Considine, the youthful tennis ace, who played so brilliantly in the Hotchkiss Cup matches and the Virginia State championship, is looked upon to give Mitchell the hardest fight for the 1934 crown. Mitchell lost three matches in the Hotchkiss Cup contest, while Considine won four and lost the singles title of Virginia, when he was eliminated from play by Eddie Jacobs, the winner.

Frank Shore, junior tennis champion of the District, playing at the top of his form, may prove one of the surprises of the tourney. He has excellent style, a hard hitter of great accuracy, and a sterling defense that will cause considerable worry to his opponents.

The finals in the singles will be played on the Rock Creek Park courts July 14, while the doubles finals will be played on the Henry Park courts the following day.

The winners and the runners-up will be sent to the National Public Parks championships, at Cleveland, Ohio, as representatives of the District of Columbia, the match officials will be All players are requested to report to the courts where they are listed to play promptly at 2 o'clock tomorrow and those who desire to make post-entries report at Rock Creek or Henry Parks not later than 1 o'clock.

ROCK CREEK PARK (Second round, first quarter)—Larry Phillips vs. David Considine, 3-6, 6-3, 6-4; second quarter—M. V. O'Neill vs. Leopoldo Cornejo, 6-3, 6-4; third quarter—Frank Shore vs. Colin Stann, 6-3, 6-4; fourth quarter—Bob Considine vs. Larry Phillips, 6-3, 6-4.

MONUMENT PARK (First round, second quarter)—John W. O'Neill vs. H. L. Smith, 6-3, 6-4; third quarter—M. V. O'Neill vs. Leopoldo Cornejo, 6-3, 6-4; fourth quarter—Frank Shore vs. Colin Stann, 6-3, 6-4.

POTOMAC PARK (First round, third quarter)—M. V. O'Neill vs. Leopoldo Cornejo, 6-3, 6-4; fourth quarter—Frank Shore vs. Colin Stann, 6-3, 6-4.

HENRY PARK (Second round, first quarter)—Colin Stann vs. W. H. Callan, 6-3, 6-4; second quarter—Frank Shore vs. Bob Considine, 6-3, 6-4; third quarter—M. V. O'Neill vs. Leopoldo Cornejo, 6-3, 6-4; fourth quarter—Frank Shore vs. Colin Stann, 6-3, 6-4.

OLIVE PALMER WILL SING
SERENADES SHE WROTESoprano Going on Air Tonight
Over WRC, With Four Compositions.

DOLLAR PRINCESS LISTED

Olive Palmer, coloratura soprano, heard in the Palmolive hour on Friday evenings, has made a special radio arrangement of the music of four little-known Victor Herbert serenades and has also written her own original lyrics for them. These serenades are said to have been originally composed by Victor Herbert for Paul Whitehead's first American tour, but until Miss Palmer conceived the idea, it is said, no words had ever been written for them. Consequently, the Palmolive presentation of these selections will be the first opportunity offered to hear both lyrics and music on the air.

The compositions are Herbert's Spanish, Chinese, Cuban and Oriental serenades. The first of these, the Spanish serenade, will be heard during the hour at 9 o'clock tonight over WRC and other stations.

Harold Sanford's composition, "Bluebird," and selections from "The Dollar Princess" will be played by the Cities Service Concert Orchestra, under the direction of Rosario Bourdon, at 7 o'clock tonight.

Among the quartet arrangements for the Cavaliers is one of the songs by Irving Berlin, "We Love It," and a negro spiritual, "Couldn't Hear Nobody Pray." Montparnasse will be the mecca for radio listeners during the broadcast of the "Evening in Paris" series at 8 o'clock. In Montparnasse is the world famous Cafe Dome, for generations the haunt of writers and artists from all over the world. Here are strange foreign cabarets—Russian, Turkish, Greek and Hindoo—and from them come new and interesting music and songs to entertain the youthful adventurers and the radio audience as well.

Flotow's overture to "Martha" will be a slumber music feature at 10 o'clock tonight. Widor, a French organist-composer, is represented by a light "Serenade" and Planquette by a selection from "Chimes of Normandy." Four movements will be played from Tchaikovsky's "La Fete de Seville."

Fess Williams and his Brunswick Recording Orchestra will be in the studios of WMAL at 7:30 o'clock tonight for a three-quarter hour broadcast of dance music.

Charlie Hoge and "Bob" Baber, entertainers, will be heard at 9 o'clock, followed by Mrs. A. W. Miller, contralto, and Dallas Tucker, tenor, in vocal duets; Seymour Rosenberg, violin and saxophone player, in a group of popular numbers; and Rawley C. Donohue, baritone, in a program of sacred and secular numbers.

A weekly resume of District government affairs will be made by James E. Chinn from Station WHRP at 6 o'clock tonight. The regular dinner concert will then be broadcast.

Another hour of varied songs has been arranged for the Wrigley Review from KDKA and WBAL at 8 o'clock tonight.

Kiwanis Club Told
Of Election Changes

The Houston and Kansas City conventions may long remain as milestones in the story of American politics, marking the vanishing of old methods of President-making in favor of the present-day choices of the people. Ray Tucker, Washington correspondent for the New York Telegram, told members and guests of the Kiwanis Club yesterday at its luncheon at the Washington Hotel. The people, through primary and convention action, and newspaper articles, had sent Hoover and Smith to their respective conventions as overwhelming favorites, he pointed out. No coalition of Western farmers and Eastern bosses could stop Hoover, just as no group of Southern dry extremists could block Smith. Radford, Moses, president of the Kiwanis Club, presided at the luncheon.

Struck by Auto, Asks $10,000.
J. Russell Stroup was sued yesterday in Circuit Court for $10,000 damages for alleged personal injuries by Ruth Hogan, a minor. Through Attorneys Douglas, Obar & Douglas the plaintiff says that on October 29, 1927, she was struck by the defendant's automobile in Baltimore.
